MEN ORDERED TO LEAVE PLANTS

Judge Grants Writ; Lewis to Detroit to Push Strike

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Circuit Judge Paul V. Gadola granted an injunction this afternoon restraining strikers from occupying two General Motors plants here.

The judge announced his decision less than an hour after national guardsmen, clearing the street in front of the Chevrolet Motor company plant, heart of the strike trouble area, had seized a union sound truck and set up eight machine guns at either end of the street.

Broadcasters Arrested

Two men in the sound truck, Merlin Bishop, an U. A. W. A. organizer who was broadcasting from it, and Paul Garrison, were taken into custody.

Col. Joseph Lewis, commanding officer of the guard force, told newsmen the men in the sound truck were "doing too much talking."

The guardsmen pointed bayonets at the backs of the pickets to force them to depart.

Order Plants Evacuated

The injunction also restrained the strikers from picketing and ordered the men to evacuate the plants within 24 hours.

After citing numerous Michigan court decisions, mostly regarding the legality of picketing and on property rights, Judge Gadola said:

"This court cannot take the mandate of 1936 as a guide but must follow the law of the state.

"We therefore must grant the relief asked by the plaintiff."

He ordered Sheriff Thomas W. Wolcott to serve notice on the sit-down strikers in Fisher plants nos. 1 and 2 immediately and said that a reading of the notice to them would be considered by him as sufficient legal service.

Judge Gadola pointed out at the outset that the only issue involved in the evacuation was the question of "possession of property," specifically whether the employes had any right to occupy property of General Motors.

He had stated in the hearing yesterday that "legality of sit-down strikers is not an issue; only the right to hold property."

Lewis Heads for Detroit

Union headquarters at Detroit said that John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, would arrive tomorrow morning to "intensify the strikes" which already have paralyzed General Motors production.

The strict patrol of 1,200 Michigan national guardsmen shut off passage of food supplies to several hundred members of the United Automobile Workers of America, C. I. O. affiliate, who started Flint's third sit-down strike last night, occupying the "key" Chevrolet motor assembly department.

Will Pass Food Bearers

Authoritative sources close to Governor Frank Murphy said that if an investigation on behalf of the executive showed the "sit-downers" were employed in the Chevrolet department when they began their strike, food-bearers would be permitted to pass the guard patrol.

Col. Joseph H. Lewis, in command of the guardsmen, planned a possible visit to the strike held plant late today.

"Organized Insurrection"

The governor, whose efforts to conciliate opposing leaders in the strikes have failed thus far, was represented as believing yesterday's disorders at Chevrolet plants were bordered on "organized insurrection."

A high authority said the governor considered an outbreak at the Motor Parts Plant, No. 9, in which windows were smashed by persons outside the building, to have been a subterfuge covering the strikers' successful attempt to gain control of the Motor Assembly Department, No. 4, the action constituting a "military maneuver by organized forces."

Before Lewis announced at Washington his intention to go to Detroit, he conferred briefly with Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor.

FRANCE STRENGTHENS ARMY

PARIS. (AP) — Defense Minister Edouard Daladier announced to the chamber of deputies today a four-year plan to strengthen France's army at a cost of 19,000,000,000 francs ($874,000,000).

WPA REFUSES JOB QUOTA INCREASE

Denies Request to Aid Men Thrown Out of Work by Frost

Dan Mulherron's drive to get a 1000 increase in Orange county's WPA quota hit a stone wall today.

Mulherron had asked state headquarters for the boost to care for workers expected to be thrown out of jobs as a result of the freeze. Mulherron is in charge of WPA here.

The WPA at San Francisco, said "No."

Maybe Orange county can get help from the WPA to the extent of a 90-man increase. Maybe not. Perhaps help will come in March or April. But there's nothing definite about it.

Decision Announced

The Journal wired to WPA headquarters at San Francisco to find out what it was going to do about Mulherron's request, which was made last week.

The following reply was received from Ralph G. Wadsworth, state director:

"Total quota from this state is limited to 100,000, all of which has been allotted to 12 districts. Have just made readjustment of allotments, giving district 12 at San Diego addition of 90, all of which district director can allot to Orange county.

1000 Jobless

"Further increase Orange county quota could only be affected by discharging workers in other parts of state. Possible that further increase can be made in March or April."

Mulherron's request for relief came after the severe freeze had made it apparent that Orange county agriculture and business had suffered major damage. He said he anticipated 1000 persons in various agricultural lines would be thrown out of work as a result of the freeze.

Mulherron first made his request to the district office at San Diego, which approved it. The application then was shunted to San Francisco.

PUSH PROPOSAL FOR PORT AID

Three pairs of official eyes at Washington, D. C., were watching carefully Orange county's request for an appropriation of $15,000 a year for maintenance of Newport harbor.

Today the board of supervisors received letters from Congressman Harry Sheppard and Senator William Gibbs McAdoo assuring the county that they will do all possible to see that the county gets the appropriation. Previously Senator Hiram Johnson had said he would work on the matter.

Sheppard's letter said he had two friends on the appropriations committee, whom he felt would support Orange county's request. McAdoo said that when the matter comes before the appropriations committee he will do all he can to see that favorable action is taken.

L. A. Police Hold S. A. Theft Suspect

Los Angeles police today were holding a suspect in the burglary of two service stations here last night, arrested when he was seen in a car described by a witness to one of the Santa Ana burglaries.

Assistant Police Chief Harry Fink was in Los Angeles today to question the man.

Burglaries were reported at service stations owned by C. M. Ransdell, at Fifth and Artesia streets, and by Jessie Bolton at Fifth and Fairlawn streets. Loot included cigars, cigarets and gasoline.

'Mercy Murder' Bill Introduced By Nebraska Solon

LINCOLN, Neb., (AP)—State Senator John A. Cornstock introduced a bill legalizing euthanasia — so called "mercy deaths," in the unicameral legislature today.

His bill was sponsored by Dr. Inez C. Philbrick, former University of Nebraska physician.

The measure would provide for district judges to act as referees to whom any adult suffering an incurable and painful disease might apply for permission for a "merciful death."

JOB SERVICE WILL END

Employment Office of County to Merge With NRS Here

Discontinuance of the employment bureau within the county welfare department was announced today by Jack W. Snow, director of the department of social welfare.

Snow said a survey revealed overlapping functions and duplication of effort with the National Reemployment service, which is the recognized employment agency within the county and should serve as a clearing house for all employment service.

The change will facilitate and expand the services to both employe and employer, it was said. It will likewise avoid confusion on the part of applicants for jobs, as well as those seeking employes, as all will clear through one central office.

Charles Fallter, head of the NRS, announced that he will form a separate woman's department within the NRS setup in the local federal and postoffice building. This department will begin to function tomorrow, he said. The woman to be named in charge of the new NRS department, yet unnamed, will be on the county payroll but will work in room 29 of the federal building.

Mrs. J. H. Leebrick of the county welfare department will remain in charge of the employment files in the welfare department while transfers of records and changes are made. She also is one of several applicants being considered for the new position as head of the woman's employment division of NRS.

S. A. MEETS ITS FLOOD QUOTA

With Santa Ana Red Cross chapter going over the top today in its drive for flood relief funds, and Anaheim and Orange chapters already over, Orange County Red Cross association is still forging ahead to meet the needs of the flood sufferers which far exceed any assigned quotas, according to Admiral Grayson, national chairman of the Red Cross.

Santa Ana's contributions up to 10 o'clock this morning reached a total of $5751.25, well over the quota of $5000.

Anaheim topped its $1000 quota with a quota of $1475.45; Orange its $600 minimum, giving $1188.45; and Fullerton nearing its $2000 quota with a total today of $1481.

Laguna Beach's total contribution to Santa Ana chapter at this morning's count was $1182.20.

Flu Speeds Up Mail Carriers

Santa Ana mail carriers and clerks were stepping around plenty fast today.

This is because there are nine carriers and six clerks ill with the influenza, necessitating use of substitutes and doubling up of work in some cases.

RIVER ROARS SIX INCHES FROM TOP

Crest Yet to Come; Property Loss Is 527 Million

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—The river fighting men of Cairo saw the approach of victory in their battle against the murky Ohio that laps at their feet today as many engineers declared "the crest is in sight."

For 12 consecutive hours the Ohio flowed at a stationary stage as it swept along the city's sea wall, battle line of a grim fight to keep the turgid water out of the city that lies below. The river stood at 59½ feet—six inches below the sea wall and three and a half feet beneath the top of the mud-filled box that bulwarks it.

"While the river is at a stand at the present time, this office doesn't believe that the crest has yet been reached," said the engineers, quickly adding:

"In all probability the gauge will rise a tenth or two during the next two days.

"However, it is evident the crest is in sight and the magnitude of the stage has been definitely indicated."

FLOOD AT A GLANCE
(By the Associated Press)
Total known dead: 368.
Homeless 956,000.
Estimated property damage: $527,000,000 in seven of 11 states affected by flood.

Paducah, Ky.—Reported virtually evacuated with flood crest topping many house roofs and whole city inundated; authorities estimated city uninhabitable for a month.

New Madrid, Mo.—With six known dead and 28 others still missing, the sinking of levee workers' barge last Saturday appeared one of worst single disasters of flood; spillway levees holding vast reservoir of Mississippi and Ohio rivers' water relieving flood pressure on Cairo.

WARN COUNTY ON FLOODS

Statutory notice to inform the board of supervisors of liability in case of flood damage through construction of a weir in the river between the P. E. bridge and the Fifth street bridge was contained in a petition sent the supervisors today.

District Attorney W. F. Menton said the notice was served merely to protect the property owners from a charge of laxness in case the weir did cause water to overflow on the property.

Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson informed the supervisors that in his opinion there is no danger from construction of the weir, which is being built jointly by the U. S. geological survey, the county of Orange and the Orange County Water district.

Today the supervisors appropriated $500 toward construction costs. A similar sum had been advanced by the water district. Purpose of the weir is to spread the water evenly across the river channel so that accurate measurements of water flow can be made.

Dinner Burglar Gets Cash, Purse

A burglar who dropped in at dinnertime and walked out with a purse from the kitchen, was being sought by sheriff's officers today on a report from I. A. Miller of Garden Grove.

Miller said he and his wife were sitting in the dining room last evening when a man walked into the kitchen, picked up Mrs. Miller's purse and walked out again. The purse contained $5 in cash, keys and a watch.

LINDBERGHS AT ROME

Stop at Pisa on Way To Avoid Bad Storms

ROME. (AP)—Excited Romans gave the Charles A. Lindberghs a "hide and seek" welcome today at the end of a leisurely flight from Pisa, second stage of the birthday air jaunt that seemingly leads to Egypt.

In high spirits, they pursued the famous couple into a hangar around the wings and "props" of planes and finally into an airport office.

The Lindberghs reached Littorio airport at 4:58 p. m.

Their flight, over an air route of 125 miles along the Italian coast, took nearly two hours. They took off at 3 p. m. from the Pisa air field, where they had visited the famous leaning tower.

The Lindberghs went to Pisa to avoid "terrific" storms over the Alps.

Airport officials said the Lindberghs probably would spend the night in Rome and go on tomorrow, perhaps to Brindisi.

DOCTOR HELD FOR RANSOM

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., (AP)—Dr. J. C. B. Davis, 66-year-old Willow Springs physician who disappeared a week ago, today, is being held by kidnapers for $5000 ransom, it was reliably learned here today. Members of Dr. Davis' family made an unsuccessful effort last Saturday midnight to contact the abductors and pay the ransom, it was learned.

The ransom demand was disclosed in a note in the doctor's own handwriting, in which he explained his plight, delivered to his family the night he disappeared. Just how the note reached the family has not yet been explained.

Asks $16,906 for Loss of Ear

Damages, totaling $16,906, were asked by R. A. Wolf in a suit filed in superior court yesterday as the aftermath of an automobile-truck crash at Euclid avenue and Ball road, in which Wolf claims Elma Arnette drove her car through a boulevard stop and crashed into his truck.

For loss of an ear and other injuries, Wolf asks $15,000; for hospital and medical expenses, $1000 and for loss of wages, $906.

LOCAL DEMOS PLAN 'WAR'

Strategy Board Will Be Named to Aid Drive For Governor

Democratic leaders of Orange county launched a program of party coalition today.

Headed by Chairman B. Z. McKinney, the Orange County Democratic Central committee has started a program designed to draw all Democratic factions and organizations of the county into one closely knit unit.

There was no secret about it. The purpose of the county-wide organization which is to be formed is to create a powerful, united Democratic group in the county which will act in future elections and in furthering the interests of the Democratic party.

After the group is organized, it will concentrate its efforts on helping elect a Democratic governor at the next state election. The organization, yet unnamed, will serve other purposes, one of which will be to cooperate with the central committee.

A mass meeting of all Democratic clubs and organizations of the county, together with all persons who worked in the last campaign, is scheduled for Feb. 15 in Santa Ana. At this time the central committee hopes to organize the new county-wide political group.

RETAIN BRIGGS AS PLANNER

L. W. Briggs of Newport was reappointed on the county planning commission today by the board of supervisors.

The action was taken after a letter from Secretary Jules Markel of the planning body was read to the board, notifying the supervisors that the term of Briggs had expired.

Supervisors also granted a request from the planning body to approve construction of a building on a fractional lot in South Laguna Beach. Application for the permit had been made by Helen Gwythe.

SCHOOL HEADS MEET

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — Some 700 California public school officials considered improvements in teaching methods and general child welfare here today. The three-day conference will conclude tomorrow

COAST PORTS WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Shipowners Ready for Sailings as Men Vote Peace

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Maritime strikers voted rapidly today and leaders said the sentiment was strongly in favor of returning to work.

They also celebrated by burning several shacks along the waterfront here, leaping and shouting as the flames leveled the huts where the strikers had kept watch for 96 days.

Henry Schmidt, publicity chairman of the joint strike committee, said three-fourths of the 40,000 maritime workers had cast their ballots.

Favors End of Strike

Schmidt said the votes had not been counted but observations of the ballot box tenders led him to believe the sentiment was largely in favor of ending the walkout.

Ship companies meanwhile prepared to send their long idle ships to sea immediately after the strike is ended officially. They purchased supplies and prepared to sign up crews.

F. M. Kelley, secretary of the maritime federation, said arrangements were completed to tabulate the voting results tomorrow.

Schedule Sailings Friday

First sailings from coast ports since the strike started 96 days ago were tentatively scheduled for Friday and Saturday on the assumption the men will return to work Thursday.

The Dollar line accepted provisional bookings for its big passenger ship, President Hoover, which was caught here by the strike the day before its scheduled Oct. 30 sailing.

Its long deferred departure for the Orient was set for Saturday, with officials indicating they expected near capacity bookings. The liner has a passenger carrying capacity of 700.

RIOT IN SAN PEDRO

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Militant protest against the new federal Copeland act ushered in the final day of balloting here today on settlement of the Pacific coast shipping strike.

Three men were beaten, police reported, when they left the federal building where seagoing pickets booed union members who accepted continuous discharge books and certificates of service as required by the Copeland law.

HILL BUILDING TO BE RAZED

Razing of the entire Hill building on Fourth between Bush and Spurgeon streets is expected in the near future.

Tenants of the building have received hurry-up notices to vacate, The Journal learned, and bids have been called for on the wrecking job.

It was reported that a new food market and chain drug company would occupy the new building when it is completed. The owners have not verified these reports. The building is owned by the Pacific States Savings and Loan company, which called for bids on the demolition job. Local contractors are reported to have submitted bids already on the big job.

Franco Outlines Spanish Plans

NEW YORK. (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco, Spain's insurgent dictator-designate, today outlined a program for a Spanish totalitarian state modeled on Italy, a concordat with the Catholic church and popular reforms, in reply to questions cabled by Roy W. Howard, editor of the New York World Telegram, and published by that newspaper in a copyrighted article today

50 CITIZENS TO SPY ON DRIVERS

Smith and Layton in Battle Over New Ordinance

An army of secret "traffic police" soon will be lurking around every corner, waiting to nab or report violators of traffic laws in this city.

The city council last night gave first reading to a new ordinance which provides for creation of a traffic safety commission and as many as 50 "traffic safety patrolmen." The latter group will constitute a "secret police" organization.

Opposed By Smith

All members of the council approved of the drastic "super-snooper" law, except Councilman Joseph P. Smith, who heatedly opposed the plan in informal session in the afternoon and in open session at night.

The plan appeared to be the "baby" of Councilman Ernest H. Layton, who exchanged heated words with Smith when the matter came up at the informal meeting. After Layton had outlined the program and Smith had expressed his objections, Layton said:

"I am glad that Mr. Smith opposes this plan, because now I know there is nothing wrong with it."

Smith shot back a blistering retort, in which he invited Layton to "keep his —— —— mouth shut!" Smith also told Layton he was entitled to his own opinions.

The bad feeling which flared into the open at the informal session was still in evidence at the official night session when Smith again opposed the newly proposed law after having called the traffic safety patrolmen "super-snoopers."

"This ordinance," Smith said, "attempts to set up a so-called traffic safety commission. It creates a plan whereby 50 so-called safety traffic patrolmen would be named."

Yen for Commissions

"No one would know who they are or what their duties are.

"We seem to have a yen for appointing commissions in the national, state and even city governments, which means a lot of expense and a lot of unnecessary snooping. I know of no place where the plan has worked, and here we have enough law enforce-

COUNTY NOT TO BUY BONDS

It appeared today that the board of supervisors will not use much if any county money for the purchase of bonds.

In a formal, written opinion, District Attorney W. F. Menton reiterated his opinion given last week, which held that the county could purchase bonds, but would be limited in the amount of purchases to use of surplus funds belonging to the county.

Supervisor John Mitchell, however, said the county has no available money now for the purchase of such bonds.

Suggestion was made previously by County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson that the county might save interest money by using available funds for purchase of bonds instead of leaving it in banks.

Call Garden Grove Park Election

The board of supervisors today called an election for Feb. 24 on the proposed creation of a park district with boundaries identical with those of Garden Grove water district.

A hearing on the formation of the district was held by the board this morning, and no written or oral objections to the proposal were made, so a resolution was passed calling the election.

Garden Grove citizens desire the creation of the district to permit taxation of the district for maintenance of a four-acre park project now under way at Euclid and Stanford streets.

E. J. Tobias and L. W. Schauer of Garden Grove attended the hearing.

WILL DISCUSS NEW JAYSEE BUILDING

Chamber of Commerce Committees Named By President

Appointment of committees and outlining of a comprehensive program for the ensuing year featured a meeting of the chamber of commerce board of directors yesterday afternoon.

Sam Hurwitz, chairman of the Kiwanis committee on a new junior college plant for Santa Ana, invited the board to name a representative to a joint service club meeting to be held Friday. The board named W. E. Baker to attend the session, which will be devoted to a discussion of the proposed junior college building program.

Promotion Work

John Scripps, who was named chairman of the community promotion and development committee, outlined his program for the year, which includes a proposed pictorial and true map of the county to be used in promotional work.

W. F. Croddy, chairman of the new young men's business group, told of plans to carry on two phases of the chamber program, involving aviation and safety, the latter part of the program embracing parking problems, traffic safety and fire prevention.

John Price, chairman of the hospitality committee, said the successful program of last year will be carried on and in addition an inter-community meeting will be held in the spring at a coast community.

Housing Needed

Clarence Hoiles, chairman of the housing committee, pointed out that Santa Ana lost many desirable residents during the past year because of inadequate housing facilities. He plans to carry on a program designed to correct this situation.

The industrial committee, headed by Hale Paxton, plans to send out 1000 folders to Los Angeles manufacturers. These folders are to include a map showing how Santa Ana is ideally located as a distributing center.

Committees named are as follows:

Budget and apportionment — Harry Hanson, chairman, Frank Was, Alex Brownridge, C. I. McDonald, Herbert Miller. Young people's business group — W. F. Croddy, chairman, Robert Harness, Ed Holmes, jr., Victor Walker, James J. Anderson, John Lutz, A. O. Hatfield, Dale Deckert, Fred McCandless.

Other Committees

Community promotion and development — John Scripps, chairman; E. V. Spencer, J. C. Horton, E. B. Sharpley, Frank Henderson, Mrs. Alice Peterson, Mrs. Ida Wiessman, Ray Goodcell, Carl Mock, William Croddy, C. A. Warren, Frank Was.

Industrial—Hale Paxton, chairman; Fred Merker, Vaughn C. DeFries, W. E. Baker, Frank Was, W. D. Ranney.

Housing—Clarence Hoiles, chairman; Carl Mock, John Knox, Wilbur Barr, W. H. Bowman, Allison Honer, Oliver Lindemeyer, D. N. Kelly, Carson Smith, Marie Gothard.

Hospitality—John Price, chairman; Mrs. Rose Walker, Ivie Stein, Erma B. McClelland, William Shook, C. I. McDonald.

Music—Milton R. Foster, chairman.

Coast association and Associated Chambers of Commerce—W. E. Merker and W. E. Baker.

Members luncheons and programs—Harold Wright, chairman.

The appointments were made by President Rex Kennedy of the chamber of commerce.

goes, another 100 square miles of Tennessee will be inundated.

Tiptonville, Tenn.—About 2000 shore, weakening dike; if levee men labored to save levees from breaking under high waves.

Memphis, Tenn.—Lieut. Col. Eugene Reybold said all main levees were holding but that strong wave battering was "a menace"; Major General Edward M. Markham, chief of army engineers, predicted government's billion dollar levee system would hold Mississippi river within bounds; experts predicted crest at Memphis at 48 feet Feb. 9 and a day or so later at 58.5 feet at Helena, Ark.

Louisville, Ky.—With two sections of city under absolute quarantine, Louisville acted to stamp out disease; waters continued to abate; Red Cross cared for thousands of homeless citizens; property damage in city alone estimated unofficially at $200,000,000.

Vicksburg, Miss. — Tallahatchie river levee reported dynamited near Tippo, Miss., to relieve flood pressure from Summer, Marks and Lambert, Miss.; Mississippi river crest of 52 feet, nine feet above flood stage, predicted for Vicksburg.

New Orleans—Meteorologist W. F. McDonald maintained his prediction Mississippi's crest when it reached New Orleans would be only 19 feet, as compared to present 15.1 feet.

Arkansas River Rising

Fort Smith, Ark.—Arkansas river rose eight feet in 48 hours.

Mellwood, Ark.—The Mellwood levee, about 25 miles above where the Arkansas river pours into the Mississippi, offered no immediate threat, although workers were bolstering the top with sand bags. A five-foot bulwark held back the waters which creeped above the dike top.

Evansville, Ind. — Waterworks and 60 business houses resumed operations; flood slowly receded from New Albany, Jeffersonville, Lawrenceburg and Aurora.

Portsmouth, Ohio.—Debres littered streets gradually reappeared, heralding strenuous period of rehabilitation.

Washington.—Red Cross asks more funds than $10,000,000 first called for, and subscribed.

CINCINNATI BACK TO NORMAL

CINCINNATI. (AP)—City Manager C. A. Dykstra, relaxed today the ban on business and permitted all stores and industries to open immediately for telephone and delivery servise only. He predicted Cincinnati business would return to normal operations by the week end.

FIRE HITS PADUCAH

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Fire visited the flood-engulfed city of Paducah again today. Flames starting in the large grain elevator of Bradley Brothers between Ninth and Tenth streets on Madison, destroyed the elevator and buildings and spread to other property. Damage was unofficially estimated at $75,000.

Soldiers Advance Among Graves

Spanish Loyalist militiamen advance through Western Park during the fighting in Madrid outskirts, to take up new positions from which to halt advancing Rebels. In the foreground are fresh graves of other Loyalist soldiers who died from Rebel fire. Manuel de Irujo, Minister without Portfolio, estimated 1,000,000 had been slain in six month.

AIR COMPANIES WIN SUIT

WASHINGTON. (AP) — F. R. Hinman of Burbank, Calif., went all the way to the supreme court, but still could not keep airplanes from flying over his property.

The high tribunal refused to review a judgment of the ninth circuit court of appeals that "the air, like the sea, is by its nature incapable of private ownership, except insofar as one may actually use it."

Hinman brought suit against the United Air Lines Transport corporation and the Pacific Air Transport. He sought injunctions to prevent both corporations from using the space over his property at Burbank and asked $90,000 from each for use of it since 1929.

SEEKS TO OUST BANK TRUSTEE

A hearing of petition for removal of the Citizens Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles as trustee of the $30,000 estate left by the late Theodore Roberts, Anaheim theater owner, was continued to Feb. 26 yesterday by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel.

The petition for removal of the bank as trustee was filed by the widow, who has a life tenancy in the trust and who, through her attorneys, objected to the fifth accounting of the trust, filed by the bank, which has served as trustee since 1928. Mrs. Roberts, through attorneys, contended the bank's system did not show true amounts of earnings of the trust.

New Neutrality Plan Proposed

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A group of 31 house members proposed today immediate enactment of a cash-and-carry neutrality plan with partial nationalization of the munitions industry and legislation to take the profits out of war.

Adequate neutrality legislation, they declared, should include:

A mandatory embargo on exports of all materials that might be used for war purposes.

A mandatory embargo on loans and credits.

A cash and carry policy for trading in non-war materials with combatants.

Prohibition of travel of American citizens in war zones or on vessels of belligerent nations, with American ships forbidden to enter war zones.

Chiang's Wife May Come to U. S.

ment officers to take care of the traffic."

In the afternoon session Layton had urged that the names of the traffic safety patrolmen be kept "as secret as possible." He said the entire plan was designed to cut down traffic accidents and fatalities.

Hold Meetings

He said a group of eight men had met several times to map out the program. These included Councilmen Layton and Plummer Bruns, Elmer Heidt of the Auto Club of Southern California, Clyde Walker of the Orange County Automobile club, Capt. Henry Meehan of the California highway patrol, Police Chief Floyd Howard, City Attorney L. W. Blodget and Motorcycle Sergeant B. A. Hershey.

The traffic safety commission is to have seven members, one of which will be a member of the city council. Other members of the commission appointed would serve for three years. The commission would investigate any and all matters relative to traffic safety measures or improvements which come to their notice. They would make recommendations to the city council concerning the same, and upon request of the city council would report concerning any traffic safety question presented or referred to them.

Council To Appoint

At their own pleasure, the commission members would recommend to the city council that traffic safety patrolmen be appointed. The ordinance gives the city council power to appoint such patrolmen, and when so appointed by the council, the patrolmen will be authorized to observe and report to the commission any and all violations of the provisions of the vehicle code and Santa Ana traffic laws.

No person shall be appointed as traffic safety patrolman without the approval of the chief of police. Such patrolmen will be authorized to arrest and detain any and all persons they may observe violating the traffic laws when it will be a further violation of the traffic laws if such person so detained is permitted to proceed unrestrained.

Report Violations

Any person named as patrolman and members of the commission shall take an oath of office as generally required for public officers before commencing duties. Patrolmen would serve for a year, but no appointment would be made until the person has served on a 30-day probationary basis. The patrolmen will report to the commission any and all violations of traffic safety laws which they see and the commission "thereupon shall take such action concerning the same as may in their discretion appear advisable."

The "secret police" clause says: ". . . rules and regulations for the traffic safety patrolmen shall include a provision that no information concerning the activities or personnel of the traffic safety patrol shall be given out or released by any member of such patrol, but that all information, if any, shall be released or given out by the traffic safety commission as such, to the effect that the commission shall operate as a unit and not as individual members thereof. All commissioners and patrolmen shall serve without pay."

MATTSON HUNT SHIFTS EAST

BOSTON. (AP)—Federal officers investigating the kidnap-slaying of young Charles Mattson of Tacoma turned their attention toward Springfield, Mass., today with a U. S. marshal assertion that the rubber type used to print the ransom notes had been traced there.

U. S. Marshal John J. Murphy said he had referred to department of justice agents Deputy Marshal John Hall's suspicions of a prisoner arrested in Springfield for impersonating a federal officer and released in mid-November after serving a three-month sentence.

MATTSON CASE SUSPECT HELD

WARREN, O. (AP)—Police here forwarded to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington the fingerprints of a prisoner who, Chief B. J. Gillen said, answered in some respects the description of the supposed kidnaper of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, at Tacoma, Wash.

Chief Gillen asserted the man said he had been in Washington state recently, and told a "loose story" of having been jailed several places. The man's age was given as 34, and Chief Gillen said his general appearance answered the description of the man sought in the Mattson case.

The prisoner held here was arrested as a vagrant near a bus station.

Journal Collects $374 Flood Fund

Santa Ana citizens have contributed $374.85 through The Journal toward the Santa Ana Red Cross chapter's fund for relief of flood sufferers in the Middle West.

The list of new contributors follows: Seeber and crew, $14.75; Art Jacques, $1; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Nielson and son Kenneth, $6; George Jeffrey, $10; Ora Connell, $5; Mabel Davis and Flora Hinman, $2; John Tessmann, $5; Charles A. Pedioja, $5; Mr. Krahnke, $3.60; Elmer Hobbs, $1; J. W. Straight, $1; Mrs. Maude Wiley, $3; J. L. Schluntz, $1; Mrs. Jack Cope, $1; Nellie Peetz and Perry Planchon, $5; Mr. and Mrs. Secrest, $5; Native Daughters of the Golden West, $5; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spencer, $5; Sunset Cleaners, $1.

Donors contributing as "A Friend" gave $40.75 in gifts ranging from $1 to $10.

To Start Class In Home Hygiene

Home hygiene and care of the sick will be taught in an adult education class which starts tonight at 7 o'clock in room No. 8 of Julia Lathrop Junior High school, under the auspices of Santa Ana Red Cross chapter.

Miss Gertrude Schroeder of the county hospital, an authorized instructor in the American National Red Cross, and registered as a defense nurse, is to conduct the classes each Tuesday night from 7 to 9 o'clock.

All completing the prescribed course will receive certificates from the National Red Cross.

An Experiment For the Women

HONOLULU. (AP)—In case you'd rather have a hairless variety of rats and mice around the house, here's how to get them. Dr. Oscar C. Magistad, director of the U. S. agricultural experiment station, has discovered that by feeding them wheat adulterated with thallium one can obtain offspring with no hair. The discovery was a by-product of his experiments with depilatory creams.

TABOR SECURES NEW DELAY

E. R. Tabor, charged with arson in connection with burning of his apartment house in Huntington Beach in 1932 and convicted of the charge in 1934, on which he appealed and got a new trial, obtained another continuance yesterday in the court of Superior Judge H. G. Ames.

Court officials have been attempting to start the new trial for some time, but have been delayed by pleas of illness by Tabor. Finally, he appeared last week after an examination by physicians, but had no legal representation. The court appointed attorneys, one of whom was Milburn Harvey.

Yesterday afternoon Harvey argued that he wasn't ready to take the case, and would rather withdraw, anyway, but Judge Ames ruled that he must continue, and advanced date of the trial to April 5.

PROPOSE FLOOD CONTROL PLAN

A new PWA project for flood control in the Yorba Linda and Placentia area was proposed today by the board of supervisors.

Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson appeared before the board to request authorization to submit the project to the federal works agency. Supervisors granted the request.

The project is being shifted from a proposed WPA project to a PWA project, Thompson said. Efforts to get started on the work through a WPA project have been held up three times, it was said.

Total cost of the project is $49,000, of which the county, as sponsor, would pay $27,000. It would provide flood protection to citrus groves and other property on both sides of the Yorba-Placentia road through construction of a conduit to prevent waters from piling up in the groves.

MADRID ENVOYS' GAS RATIONED

MADRID. (AP) — Foreign diplomats in Madrid have gone on gasoline rations with United States representatives limited to approximately 2* gallons a day.

The gasoline, doled out by the government to a diplomatic committee, is then redistributed among diplomats.

Norway got the largest amount —31 gallons a day—because her envoy heads the committee. Other rations included, Rumania, 22, Argentina 10½, Great Britain, 5, and the United States, Haiti, Uruguay and Eucador 2½ each.

The small amount for the Washington representative was explained on the ground the embassy had been moved officially to Valencia and diplomatic negotiations were conducted from that city.

S. A. V. I. Directors To Hold Over

Stockholders of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company today heard their directors' annual report, discussed problems, and adjourned with the same directors left in office for another year.

Members of the board, which holds over because a quorum was not present at the annual meeting, are President A. N. Saxton, Dian R. Gardner, I. L. Marchant, A. M. Robinson and C. A. Palmer.

O. A. Mansur, secretary, reported receipt of $181,694.01 in the expense account and $27,113.30 in the construction account. Disbursements were listed as $125,677.85 for expenses and $46,339.26 for construction. Cash and bank balances total $49,808.67, he reported.

Couple Cycle 800 Miles to School

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Marsh of Savannah, Ga., bicycled 800 miles to East Pittsburgh, where Marsh entered an electric welding school.

The trip required 12 days and cost the couple $40 for food, tourist cabins and 'cycle repairs.

Mrs. Marsh said she thought it was "fun," except for a few spills in the hills of West Virginia. She recalled:

"We would climb a mountain for three hours and then come down the other side in 15 minutes."

Marsh will complete his course shortly and then the people will return to Savannah and their three children—on their bicycles.

Salesman Lives in Collapsible House

MARION, O. (AP)—When Ross Showers of nearby LaRue goes traveling he carries his "hotel" on the rear bumper of his automobile.

It looks like a piano box when he drives into a farmer's yard to park. Then quickly it is transformed into a one-room house with 25 feet of floor space, a standard-size bed, a kerosene stove, two closets and electricity.

Showers' collapsible automobile house is the width of his car and 14 inches thick when folded. The materials cost him only $11, he said, and is made of spare pieces of lumber, galvanized metal sheeting and "lots of hinges."

They Had to Have Snow

There were many sections of the country that would have been delighted to spare some, but it was necessary to call on a company which provides snow for the movies to furnish artificial snow for the coronation of Miss Frances Gilmore as queen of Los Angeles' annual snow sports carnival at Big Pines. Tennessee May Pass Law Against Child Marriages

SNEEDVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Aroused over the marriage of Eunice Winstead Johns, 9-year-old mountain bride, Tennessee's legislature began setting up a legal barrier today to future child marriages.

Two weeks ago little Eunice wed a 22-year-old mountaineer, Charlie Johns. The ceremony was conducted by a Baptist minister in the middle of a country road.

In Nashville, Senator George H. Freeman of Lincoln county introduced a bill last night that would render "null and void" the marriage of any person under 14, regardless of the parents' attitude.

'Humiliates' State

He said the marriage of the mountain child and the young farmer caused Tennessee to be "humiliated in the eyes of our sister states."

Another bill, offered by Senator Fletcher R. Morgan of Chattanooga, provides that a county clerk issuing a license to anyone under 16 years of age would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Tennessee has no marriage age limitations in cases where parents consent.

Johns, meanwhile, expressed dislike for strangers who talk to his wife.

"Let Eunice alone, don't scare her," he told newspapermen at his parents' mountain cabin. They are living for the present with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Johns, whose farm adjoins that of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Winstead.

Mother Defends Girl

Mrs. Winstead defended the early marriage of her daughter, one of several children.

"My girl has a right to marry," she asserted. "She has a perfect right to have her man the same as me or any other woman. And Charlie is a good boy. He don't throw away his money. I set a lot of store by Charlie.

"My girls always work. I put 'em in the corn field almost as scon as they can walk. My girls don't loaf and they don't get in trouble neither."

CHURCH SCHOOL CONTINUES

The third in the Church College Night series of the First Methodist Episcopal church will convene tomorrow evening with a dinner at 6 o'clock. The Amistad class will sponsor and serve the dinner, assisted by the Delta Alpha girls.

Following the dinner and fellowship moments, C. V. Caldwell will deliver the assembly address, continuing his subject of last week, "The Old Church in a New World." During this period, movies will be shown for the children.

Classes will meet at 7:35 p. m. One of the best attended of these classes is that on "Bookland," by Mrs. Muriel White of the speakers' bureau, department of adult education. This week she reviews a book of poetry. "The People, Yes," by Carl Sandburg.

In Mrs. Helen McArthur's leadership training course, she teaches tomorrow night from the topic, "Laws of Learning." Other classes will be that of Dr. J. Hastie Odgers, speaking on "The Set Up of the Service of Worship," the Rev. George A. Warmer, jr., on "How to Avoid Harmful Impressions"; Mrs. Jennie Tessmann, "Science as a Destructive Force," and the Rev. W. I. Lowe, "The Gospel of the Son of Man."

Two Injured as Car Overturns

When their car overturned near El Toro last night, two Los Angeles men incurred severe cuts and bruises.

Twenty-five stitches were required to close a cut across the eyelid and nose of William Gordon, a passenger in the car; and R. H. Wright, driver, received first aid treatment at the county hospital for a lacerated scalp and neck.

Daniel Osborne, 24, Fullerton, was in the county hospital today with severe head injuries, incurred in a crash last night near Fullerton.

Acquits Man in Statutory Case

Manuel Cerna, Orange Mexican, was acquitted on a statutory charge in the court of Superior Judge H. G. Ames yesterday.

Judge Ames explained, in handing down his decision, that Cerna's alibi concerning the case, which involved a 16-year-old Mexican girl, raised a reasonable doubt as to his guilt, in spite of a confession introduced by the prosecution.

LINDSEY MAY RUN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Superior Judge Ben Lindsey, former veteran of the Denver juvenile bench, was "undecided" today about running for mayor of Los Angeles at the spring election although friends urged his candidacy.

JAP CABINET ACCEPTED

TOKYO. (AP)—In a brief, business-like ceremony in the imperial palace, Emperor Hirohito today ended Japan's constitutional crisis with formal acceptance of Gen. Senjuro Hayashi's compromise cabinet.

The 20-minute ceremony in resplendent Phoenix hall, marked a temporary truce between military bureaucracy and parliamentary leaders, and climaxed a 12-day fight by army extremists for a strong rightist cabinet.

Success of the moderate Hayashi was considered by observers to have resulted from widespread public displeasure when army opposition blocked the efforts of General Kazushige Ugaki.

Financial and industrial circles reacted favorably to the new government, expressing belief appointment of Toyotaro Yuki as finance minister dispelled fears of an outright Fascist regime.

The army attitude was reported to be watchful waiting with support to be given only if the army program is supported.

S. A. Boys Attend Indian Pow-Wow

Six hundred boys, including 11 from Santa Ana with their leader, Herbert Thomas, attended a Southern California Friendly Indian pow-wow at Anaheim High school Saturday.

The program, for boys between the ages of 9 and 12, was featured by the showing of a motion picture, Frank Buck's "Wild Cargo," and an exhibit of handcraft.

Wendell Cole of Santa Ana won a special award for samples of Indian bead work, and the showing of an old newspaper on Indian days. Pedro Castro's Indian blanket, made from painted burlap, won third place.

Tom Engelman and his Santa Ana Birdmen prepared a model airplane exhibit. Group singing was led by Merle Waterman, with Ralph Raitt at the piano.

Those attending from Santa Ana were Pittman Dailey, Terry Ragan, Robert Drown, Kenneth Anderson, Lane Wright, Cecil and Reynold Pearson, Richard Blake, Wendall Cole, Billy West, Mr. Falleck and Mr. Thomas.

BLAMES CHINA ILLS ON BIG NATIONS

Lewis Browne, University of California lecturer, blamed imperialist powers last night for the growth of communism in China. Speaking on a federal forum program at the high school, Browne traced development of communism to refusal of these powers to come to the aid of Sun Yat Sen and his new Chinese republic in 1912. China was forced to appeal to Russia for aid, Browne said before an audience of 1150 persons.

The hope of China for aid from western nations was blighted when the League of Nations refused to act when Japan walked into Manchuria, said Browne.

Realization of the ideals of nationalism, democracy and social justice will shake the present set-up in China to its foundations, he predicted.

The language barrier, foreign exploitation and ancestor worship are among the barriers to development in China.

Modernization of methods of agriculture, building of transportation systems, recognition of rights of all human beings, including recognition of rights of women, standardization of language, and strong internal organization must come before the turmoil in China will be brought into some semblance of order, Browne said.

BURNS ENTERS BOND WORK

Roy Burns today announced severing of his connection with the First National bank trust department, where he had worked for the past 12 years. He made the change in order to accept a position with Boothe, Gillette and company, bond brokers, as an Orange county representative, maintaining offices in the First National bank building.

Burns entered the bank in part-time service during his junior college work and, following his graduation, continued with the trust department.

He is well known here, having served on the Community Chest and other welfare campaigns. He is past president of the 20-30 club here, past district governor for 20-30 clubs in Southern California, a charter member of the Civilian club, the Southern California 50-50 club, Comus club and Tux and Gown.

ATTACK SUSPECT LYNCHED

HEADLAND, Ala. (AP) — The body of Wes Johnson, 18-year-old negro farm hand whom officers charged with an attack on a white girl, was found hanging in a woods near Headland today, a few hours after he was seized in jail by armed men.

Quickly Ease DISCOMFORT OF COLD with SORE THROAT

1 Crush 3 Bayer Aspirin tablets in ½ glass of water.

2 Gargle twice. This eases soreness almost instantly.

3 Take 2 Bayer Aspirin tablets with full glass of water.

As soon as you feel yourself catching cold, follow this modern way. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. This medicinal gargle will provide almost instant relief from rawness and soreness. The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will act to combat fever and pains which usually accompany a cold. Ask for Bayer Aspirin by its full name — not "aspirin" alone.

COLLEGE DAYS BUSY FOR 14 GRADUATES

Activities of Jaysee Group on Campus Are Listed

When the 14 February graduates at Santa Ana Junior college are given their junior certificates indicative of having completed their Jaysee studies, no one can say this group has been inactive in student activities on the campus.

Ten of those who finished their work were graduated from Santa Ana High school. This was made known today as the list was published.

Each of the 10 Santa Ana graduates has participated in various activities in the two years of study at the college. The four "outside" students also have done their share of participating in student activities.

Honor Groups

Included in the activities of the graduates were membership in service clubs, activity organizations and scholastic societies. Predominant among the activities of the Santa Ana students were the scholastic honor groups in which they participated.

Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college scholarship society, with the local Alpha Beta chapter, claimed three of the Santa Ana students. This society is equivalent to Phi Beta Kappa of four-year institutions. Franklin Davis, John Ramirez and Frances Was were members.

These same three were members also of the local Omicron chapter of Alpha Gamma Sigma, California scholarship honor society.

Science Society

Phi Sigma Alpha, Beta Gamma and the American Association of Engineers claimed two members each from the class.

Helen Gardiner and Franklin Davis were members of Phi Sigma Alpha, social science society. Beta Gamma, extra-curricular organization, claimed John Ramirez and Frances Was. The local chapter of the American Association of Engineers had Ramirez and Norman Caldwell as members.

Alpha Mu Gamma, international honorary society for students of foreign languages, claimed one member, John Ramirez. This is one of the most difficult societies to be voted into, it was said.

Literary Club

Other honor societies at the college in which the graduates were active is Alpha Rho Tau, art society, to which Audrey McDonald belonged. Chester Wafford was a member of Tavern Tattlers, literary society.

Miss McDonald and Elizabeth Sturtevant belonged to Las Gitanas, women's service club. Miss Sturtevant was also a member of the Y. W. C. A. Frances Crowther belonged to the Moavs, while the Spinsters claimed Frances Was. Both are women's service clubs.

Of the men students, Ramirez was the only person to belong to a men's service club. Los Gauchos claims him. Richard Shepard belonged to the Orphan Kiddies club.

Athletic Group

Of the four students who have attended high schools other than Santa Ana High school, Marion Mattson and Marjorie Wakeham were Las Gitanas members. Miss Mattson was also active in the Y. W. C. A. as well as the Women's Athletic association. She graduated from San Pedro High school, while Miss Wakeham completed Garden Grove High school.

Joe Yocam, who graduated from a Texas high school, was a member of the Buccaneers, men's service club. Vernon Koepsel has been active in the Bachelors. He came to Jaysee after finishing Newport Harbor High school.

Will Confer on Banning Smudge

A proposal to form a $15,000,000 corporation to finance purchase of 5,000,000 smokeless orchard heaters will be discussed at a meeting of citrus growers Friday at Covina. Orange county citrus associations were among the 80 in the Southland invited to attend the conference.

Supervisor Herbert C. Legg of Los Angeles has called the group together to confer on the problem of eliminating smudge smoke.

The proposed corporation would ask to be subsidized by the RFC.

Townsend Clubs

All persons interested in the Townsend movement are cordially invited to attend any of the club sessions, particularly those of the clubs in their own neighborhoods. Members are also urged to turn out regularly.

Club No. 1, of Buena Park, will stage a jubilee meeting Thursday evening at the Buena Park Women's clubhouse, starting at 6:30 with a pot-luck supper. An excellent program, including good speakers, has been arranged, Joe Ritter, president of the club, announced today.

J. H. Walsh, district manager, will be the speaker for Club No. 9 at the Wednesday evening meeting at 2027 Cypress street, Santa Ana.

Club No. 1 of Westminster will have as its speaker at the meeting Friday night in the I. O. O. F. hall, J. H. Walsh, district manager.

Club No. 1 of Costa Mesa will meet in regular session at the grammar school music room Thursday at 7:30 p. m. Speaker of the evening will be Frank Kendall of Santa Ana.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This is a non-political, non-partisan column, dealing in Townsend news and views, and written by a prominent Townsend leader. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

W. R. ROBB

Dr. Francis E. Townsend has definitely denounced Edward J. Margett, former California director of the Townsend movement, in printed form and on "Townsend National Weekly" stationery. The communication is entirely too long to quote tonight. The writer will therefore give the highlights of this denouncement and will follow with other portions of the doctor's statement tomorrow evening and later. The writer would comment before reciting the doctor's message that if all that Dr. Townsend says concerning Margett's Townsend activities are true, then once again it becomes the sad truth that another of the Townsend movement's former leaders has been unworthy of the trust that has been imposed in him.

According to this published statement of Dr. Townsend the thunderings that were heard from Margett about big salaries being paid at the Townsend national headquarters to Townsend officials were just a medium to get the confidence of the Townsendites. It also appears that this was wanted because of the help it would be to Margett in being boosted into the general management of the Townsend movement over the nation. At one time, according to the published statement, Dr. Townsend offered to employ Margett in that capacity at a salary of $10,000 per year. Many Townsendites will say that Providence had a hand in preventing such a move. But now I will give you some of the doctor's comments.

I quote from the statement—these are the words of Dr. Townsend:

"To my California friends:

"I have received many letters from the California Townsend clubs and members insisting that Edward J. Margett be put in charge of the Townsend organization at Chicago. Recently I received from northern California a petition signed by some 30 or 40 club members, reading as follows:

"'We the undersigned members of Townsend clubs in San Francisco do hereby request that you appoint Edward J. Margett as general manager of the Townsend movement with authority to "clean house." Mr. Margett has proven himself to be the most faithful man in the movement and we need him.'"

Commenting on the above the doctor says, "These requests and petitions from California are the result of Mr. Margett's radio appeals and speeches criticising national headquarters, the Townsend Weekly and the people whom I have employed to carry on the work of the national organization. I cannot approve of the tactics of Mr. Margett in attacking the national organization with the hope of promoting himself into the control of it.

"I am sure that the signers of these letters and petitions are sincere and loyal workers for the Townsend plan, but they must be cognizant of the fact that the United States covers a big territory. What some California people want may not be agreeable to other Townsendites in that state or in other states."

The doctor concludes his statement as to the possibility of Mr. Margett being allowed to take over the command of the national movement by saying, "I shall not comply with Mr. Margett's demands. Mr. Margett cannot, or will not, work with Mr. Brinton and Mr. Young in the management of the Townsend Weekly. I must have cooperation and peace in the headquarters of our movement." Tomorrow evening's column will contain further quotations from the doctor's published statement given to the press.

* * *

Tonight at 7:30 in Santa Ana Townsend hall the Orange County Townsend Club Officers' association will hold its February meeting. All Townsend club officers are automatically members of the association and are invited to be present. President W. A. Zimmerman is still sojourning in the home of his daughter in Tennant, Calif. In his absence Vice President Walter Schultz of Fullerton will preside.

POLICE REPORTS

A prowler near the White home, 1221 East Third street, was sought today after Mrs. White said he had been lurking around the neighborhood for the past few nights.

William Cates, 45, Pomona mechanic, was jailed by officers early today on charges of drunkenness and indecent exposure following his arrest at Fourth and Birch streets.

A bicycle owned by Robert Vogler, 511 South Broadway, was stolen from Santa Ana High school yesterday, Robert told officers. It was valued at $15.

Mrs. E. Chancel, 1313 East Third street, reported two rabbits were stolen from her yard Sunday night.

City court traffic fines: Speeding—Joseph T. Berthelet, $6; Roy L. Davis, $8. Drunk driving—George Himes, $150, committed; V. C. Collier, $150. Boulevard stop—Luther F. Payne, $2.

SHIP 801 CARS OF ORANGES

Shipment of 801 cars of oranges, with F. O. B. returns of $908,079 to growers, was reported by Manager J. H. Bray at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Frances Citrus association at the packinghouse today.

Returns for the past season showed a healthy increase over previous years, Bray said, pointing out that of the 801 cars shipped, 650 were sold on the domestic market, 56 cars were exported, 72 cars were sold as loose fruit and 22 went to the citrus exchange by-products plant.

Freight on the shipments totaled $378,790, he added, while direct payrolls for the packinghouse and picking and hauling amounted to $101,151. Other payrolls necessary in producing and marketing the crop brought the labor cost up to $138,300. In addition to this, the grower paid out about $82,770 for labor, Bray added.

To Install Jaysee Executive Board

Members of the new executive board who will lead the student administration the second semester at Santa Ana Junior college were being installed this afternoon.

Neil McDaniel, recently elected Associated Student president, has selected three commissioners—commissioner of forensics, social commissioner, and commissioner of men's athletics—for his new board. By election the president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, are being replaced on the board.

Besides McDaniel, Fred Erdhaus as vice president, Lou Ella Pierce as secretary, and Kenneth Nissley as treasurer, will be installed. The new commissioners who will take office are La Vonne Frandson, social commissioner; Bill Greschner, commissioner of men's athletics; Al Pickhardt, commissioner of forensics, and Velma Kuechel, commissioner of women's athletics; Bob Swanson, El Don editor, and Tay Riggs, editor Del Ano, both retain their positions throughout the year.

Col. Lewis Given Birthday Honor

A number of the members of Calumpit Camp and Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, gathered at the home of Col. E. A. Lewis, 320 E. Chestnut street, last night, and gave him a surprise birthday party.

After spending the early part of the evening playing auction bridge and pinochle, coffee was made by the hostess, Mrs. Effie Hawley. Sandwiches brought by the visitors were put on the tables and then a huge birthday cake. Angelica wine was served with the cake, which the colonel cut. Quartermaster William Brown made the presentation.

Those present, besides those already named, were Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. William Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kincaid, Mr. and Mrs. Hanigan C. Moberly, Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Dresser, Marriott C. Cooper, Mrs. George E. Barlow, president of the auxiliary at Oceanside, and Miss Charlene Kincaid.

COURT BRIEFS

Sadie R. Cradit yesterday petitioned the superior court here to terminate the life estate of Wilhelmine Geske in a lot in the Noah Palmer tract. Mrs. Geske died Jan. 9 at Santa Ana.

Hunger Drives Deer From Mountains

Heavy snow in the mountains near Salt Lake City made it impossible for deer to find forage in their usual haunts. Despite their fear of man, hundreds moved in from the mountains to feed near the city. The above picture shows part of the herd. (Associated Press Photo)

Owner of Stalled Car Is Jailed

With his car stuck in a ditch last night at Bristol and Edinger streets, J. H. Davis, 49, 414 West Sixth street, started to walk home to get his son to pull the auto out.

He was almost there, too, when police, trying to find the owner of the automobile to help him out, met him.

After greeting him, however, they took him in their car to the county jail, where he was booked on drunk charges. The car incidentally, was towed out and stored in a garage.

Frank J. Henry, 51-year-old Newport Beach plumber, was in the county jail today serving a 20-day sentence from Newport city court on vagrancy charges.

730 TICKETS PURCHASED FOR BALL

With a few reports still to come in, Postmaster Frank Harwood, general chairman of the President's Birthday ball, today announced that a sale of 730 tickets was made for this year's celebration.

He said the net profit this year will exceed the gross of the previous two years of the celebration.

Harwood expressed his deep appreciation to The Journal and members of the publicity committee for aid in making the birthday ball a success. Special thanks were given to KVOE and Manager Ernest L. Spencer of the radio station.

Harwood also expressed thanks to Lyle Anderson, chairman of the entertainment committee, for the vaudeville show, he and his committee arranged; Riley Huber for securing the orchestra for the dance at Masonic temple; Mrs. Claudia Worswick, chairman, and her card party committee, and all of her sub-committee members; Elaine Williams, for the decorating committee; Joe Peterson, for the ticket committee; J. Wayne Harrison for the dance committee and Mrs. Emma Anderson for the patrons and patronesses committee.

The birthday ball was an outstanding success in spite of the recent freeze, raising of funds for flood relief, rainy weather and the influenza epidemic, Harwood said. More persons attended the dance than in any previous celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday here.

Seventy per cent of the funds raised will be used locally for assistance of victims of infantile paralysis. Thirty per cent will go to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

Happy Birthday

The Journal today congratulates:

Column Left —By— PAUL WRIGHT

Football fame invariably sweeps a student to the president's chair at Santa Ana High, but carries slight weight in junior college elections . . . Witness the recent defeat of Bill Greschner, one of the most popular backs in Don annals . . . He is just one of numerous grid greats who have come out second in campus politics.

* * *

Incidentally, Greschner was one of the first Dons to turn out for track, a sport he will captain this spring . . . and in his first workouts he tossed the 16-lb. shot 43 feet on two occasions . . . He should easily establish a new record this year.

* * *

Capt. Sam Lockhart, the Saints' high-scoring guard and captain, may follow his brother, Leonard, to Santa Ana Jaysee in September. Leonard gained Eastern all-conference recognition last winter, was honored as captain-elect, and then withdrew from college.

* * *

From Scribe Tom Swope of the Cincinnati Post, via The Sporting News, comes a striking tribute to Fullerton's Floyd (Arky) Vaughan of the Pittsburgh Pirates, whom Swope calls the greatest hitting shortstop since the days of Hans Wagner.

* * *

"Almost any time Manager Pie Traynor of the Pirates has found himself in the company of two or more of his fellow National league pilots during the past three years," declares Swope, "he has had to listen to conversation such as this:

"'Who's the best shortstop in the National league?' one of Pie's rivals will ask. 'Durocher,' someone will answer.

"'Jurges,' will pop forth from between the lips of another.

* * *

"'How about Bartell?' someone will ask.

* * *

"Traynor stands just so much of this and then swallows the hook. 'What's the matter with Vaughan? He's the greatest shortstop in the league,' the Pirate boss invariably puts in.

* * *

"'You mean he's the best left-fielder playing shortstop,' someone shoots back and the war then is on, with Traynor valiantly defending Arky Vaughan's capabilities and the other managers pouring it on Pie, with hot shot after hot shot about him wasting a great outfielder to have a mediocre shortstop.

* * *

"Pie has yet to win one of these arguments, started solely for the purpose of getting his goat, which is very easily gotten when slurs against Vaughan are used to bait the trap.

* * *

"In rebuttal, Pie invariably points out that Vaughan is the first shortstop to lead either league in batting since Hans Wagner led the National league for the last time in 1911. But that isn't all Vaughan has done. He has made the unique record of never having hit for an average of less than .314 in any of his six years in professional company, five of which have been in the National league.

* * *

"So Traynor, never having really realized that his fellow managers are kidding him, gets genuinely serious when he complains to friends about the way the other managers attempt to run down Vaughan in Pie's presence. 'They all knock him, but everyone of them has tried to trade me out of him.'"

* * *

Sports from afar: Cecil Travis has hit .319, .318 and .319 in his three years with the Washington Senators . . . Coach Wallace Wade of Duke is listed in "Who's Who in America" . . . The former Georgia Tech star, "Father" Lumpkin, says he has been injured only once in 11 years of pro football.

Santa Clara, the school that won national recognition with its Sugar Bowl victory over Louisiana State in football, now claims another honor: The heaviest basketball team in the United States. The Broncos' starting quintet averages 198 pounds per man. The giant of the team is Ed Nelson, 226-pound 6:4½ sophomore.

Chicago Welcomes Louis-Braddock Fight

CONTRACT OF N.Y. GARDEN IS IGNORED

Athletic Commission of Illinois Enthusiastic Over June 15 Bout

NEW YORK. (AP)—While the word from Chicago today was that the Windy City was inclined to regard a Jimmy Braddock-Joe Louis heavyweight fight there next June as a "cinch," New York continued to look askance at the whole proposition and await developments.

Madison Square Garden, which has the champion under contract for a title defense against Max Schmeling here June 3, and the New York state athletic commission chairman, Gen. John J. Phelan, answered with ringing noes the suggestion that the Chicago fight was possible.

John Reed Kilpatrick, president of the Garden corporation, said, "When we make an agreement we expect to live up to it, and we expect the same of the other parties to the contract." He refused, however, to say what the Garden's course of action might be.

CHICAGO. (AP)—Chicago had the welcome sign and cash out today for a world's heavyweight championship bout between James J. Braddock, the titleholder, and challenger, Joe Louis.

A $500,000 offer made by Sheldon Clark, wealthy Chicago sportsman, to Braddock and accepted by the champion's manager, Joe Gould, called for the 15-round match June 15 at spacious Soldier field. The proposition had the enthusiastic backing of the state athletic commission, Gov. Henry Horner and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago.

But things were not so peaceful along the New York heavyweight fight sector.

INDIANAPOLIS SEEKING BRADDOCK, SCHMELING

INDIANAPOLIS. (AP) — The world championship heavyweight bout between James J. Braddock and Max Schmeling may be held here following the 500-mile speedway automobile race May 31, according to an Indianapolis Star copyrighted dispatch.

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, president of the Indianapolis motor speedway, has made efforts to negotiate the deal, the Star says. The speedway race will be held the morning and afternoon of May 31. The proposed fight would be held in Perry stadium, American association ball park, that night.

Announcement already has been made in New York that the Braddock-Schmeling scrap would be staged there in June.

Madison Square Garden, holding a contract for a title bout between Braddock and Max Schmeling of Germany for June 3 at the Long Island City bowl, apparently will battle to the last ditch against a Louis-Braddock bout in Chicago.

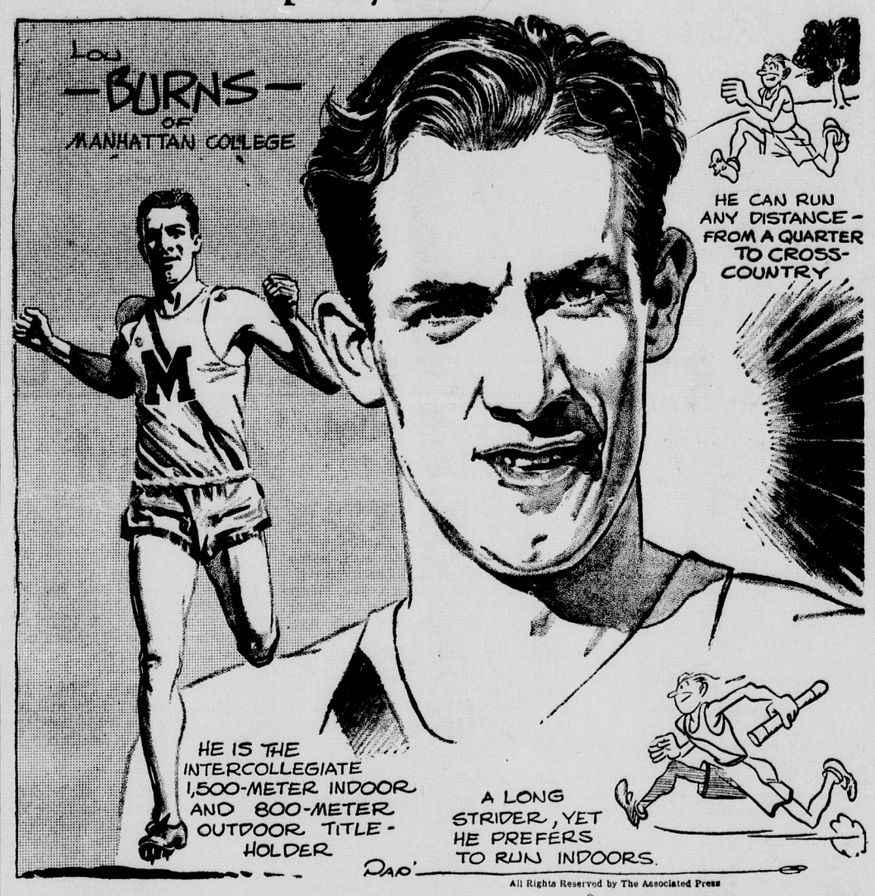

And while Gould was accusing Jimmy Johnston, Garden boxing director, of "fleecing" fight fans by approving Bob Pastor's strategy in the latter's bout with Louis last Friday, Johnston was terming the Chicago proposition "the bleat of a manager trying to get some publicity and restore Louis' lost prestige."

"There's nothing definitely settled," said Mike Jacobs, who holds exclusive rights to Louis' services, as he headed back to New York after conferring with Clark. "There are a lot of kinks to be ironed out before the bout becomes a reality.

Joseph A. Trainer, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, said Otto Kerner, Illinois attorney general, has ruled a Louis-Braddock bout here would be strictly in accord with state laws. Triner emphasized that he was not interested in the attitude of Madison Square Garden or the New York athletic commission.

Triner said Gould, along with Julian Black and John Roxborough, co-managers of Louis, will appear here within two weeks to sign articles. Jacobs said Louis' financial side of the bout would be worked out within a few days.

Track Champ Says He Prefers Basketball

RED RAIN IN RACE TODAY AT ARCADIA

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Red Rain of the C. V. Whitney stable enters the $1500 Duarte mile at Santa Anita today as a tune-up for the coming $100,000 handicap.

Ridden by Sonny Workman, Red Rain was assigned 114 pounds, three less than the top weight for Accolade with Howell up.

Tempestuous, 113, Silk Mask, 108, and Sir Emerson, 106, made up the remainder of the small field in the race program's feature.

Sale of the 26 horses in the stable of John W. Marchbank, Tanforan operator, brought $42,225 yesterday. Bob Riskin, Hollywood scenarist, paid $5100, the highest price of the auction, for a 4-year-old filly, Lady Florise.

Bing Crosby bought High Strike, a 2-year-old, for $3600. Jaipur, stakes winner, was sold to Earl Zeezley for $3100.

BUDGE PLAYS 2 MATCHES

SURFSIDE, Fla. (AP)—Don Budge had to play twice today, barring upset, to catch up with his diminutive southern rival, Bryan Grant, in the brackets of the Surf Club Invitational tennis tournament.

All of the seeded players except Budge, top ranker of both nation and tournament, and Charles Harris of Palm Beach, seeded third, skipped first-round play with byes.

The Oakland flame-top defeated Dr. Philip Hawk of New York, 6-1, 6-2, in the preliminary round, and faced young Bill Hardie of Miami Beach in today's first match.

If all goes well, Budge will tackle Vernon Marcum of Lakeland, Fla., later in the afternoon.

Grant had a rather easy time defeating a former Atlantan, S. A. Lynch, jr., now of Miami, 6-3, 6-1, in the second round.

Twice before this winter, in the Miami Biltmore and at Tampa, Budge and Grant have met in the final, and each time Atlanta's pint-sized racqueteer has won.

Nurmi's Great Runs Inspire Lou Burns

Lou Burns is intercollegiate indoor 1500-meter and outdoor 800-meter champion. But the lanky Manhattan college runner would rather play basketball.

"That's the sport I really enjoy," says Burns. "I played in high school and, if I say so myself, I was pretty good.

"I went out for track, too, because my brother, Robert, had done so before me. When I won the public school half-mile and '1000' they made me stick to track. I repeated in both races, so at least I did better than my brother. The best he could do was to place third in the '1000.'

"When Paavo Nurmi toured the U. S. in 1925 I became interested in track and decided to become a mile runner like the great Finn. I had his pictures plastered all over my room. I'm not sure that I still want to be a miler. The half and 1000 yards suit me."

He Can Sprint

His coach at Manhattan, Peter Waters, insists Burns would make a great cross-country runner. His charge runs over the hills of Van Cortlandt park just as all the Manhattan track men do. But he does so for training and conditioning rather than for actual competition. He can go the route, however, and has run as a member of the Manhattan cross-country team in intercollegiate competition.

Burns has the speed of a sprinter and, when occasion demands, he runs on the Jaspers' crack relay teams. He was a member of the Manhattan freshman mile quartet which turned in 3:19 at the '35 Penn relays.

If he had his way, Burns would do all of his running indoors.

"Running indoors is soft compared to racing outdoors on the cinders," he explains. "Maybe it's because I'm lazy, but it seems that the hot sun, the wind and often the slow condition of the cinder tracks, make it harder to race outdoors."

Tore Leg Muscle

Burns, recalling that most of the great mile runners of the present day, Cunningham, San Romani, Bonthron and Mangan, all suffered leg injuries in their early youth, declares: "I ought to be a fine miler some day if that's all it takes. I tore the calf muscle almost off my leg playing tag as a kid.

BEAVER NINE COMES HERE MARCH 1

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Eight California training camps are lined up today, awaiting the arrival of Pacific Coast league baseball teams, about March 1.

League headquarters announced arrangements have been completed for the following spring practice sites:

Portland at Fullerton.
San Francisco at Hanford.
Los Angeles at Ontario.
San Diego at San Diego.
Oakland at Modesto.
Sacramento at Riverside.
San Francisco Missions at Monterey.
Seattle at Santa Monica.

The pennant-winning success of the Portland Beavers last year is expected to result in reduced squads at most of the training camps. Portland only put 23 players through a conditioning process before the start of the 1936 season, one of them being a rookie.

GOODYEAR TO PLAY MILLS

With Ernie Holbrook, former U. S. C. captain, in their lineup, the Goodyear Tires' cagers of Los Angeles will invade the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. floor at 8:30 tonight for a Los Angeles Basketball league engagement with the Woolen Mills.

It will be a striking achievement if Manager Quentin Matzen's home guard extends the powerful Goodyears, who boast a 6 ft. 6 in. guard in Shoda of Kansas City, and a highly-regarded forward from the University of Tennessee, Gerald Lee, in addition to the famed Holbrook.

Matzen probably will start Doug Wheeler, Bill Kolkhorst, Fred Wiemer Leonard Lockhart and Joe McChesney, with Vernon Valentine and Kermit Silverwood as alternates.

Although Cavalcade, champion 3-year-old of 1934, and High Quest, 2-year-old winner of the Preakness the same year, raced together, High Quest was the first to be retired to the stud—in 1935. Cavalcade will make his stud debut this year.

MORGAN AND STEIN BOTH TRIUMPH

Tiny Roebuck Yields to Flying Tackles; Herb Freeman Outroughed

Sammy Stein, the flying tackle wizard, and Big Ben Morgan, the bearded wonder, lived up to advance notices at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

In the "main event" of the four-bout wrestling circus, Stein came out of his corner to floor Tiny Roebuck in double-quick time, 32 seconds, with a neatly-applied flying tackle. It took a third fall for victory, however, because Roebuck recovered to win the second fall with a body slam.

Morgan, the human truck, outroughed and outslugged Herb Freeman of the Bronx and then crushed him with a body slam. He created a furor early in the bout by ripping Freeman's shoe sole off and spanking him.

Flying tackles paved the way for Bob Coleman's victory over John Borges in the preliminary, after another one of those scientific affairs.

Dr. Len Hall, the chiropractic man, beat Irish Jack McArthur with a backward body slam, accomplished by his backing Jack into the ropes and grabbing him around the waist and falling down.

Midway during the Stein-Roebuck feature a drunk created no little excitement by hurling a whiskey bottle, nearly crowning Roebuck. The cops dragged out the intoxicated one.

LOYOLA SLATES U.S.C. CAGERS

LOS ANGELES. — After a two-day lay-off from practice for the purpose of concentrating on first semester final exams, members of the University of Southern California basketball squad will resume work-outs tomorrow in preparation for non-conference games Friday and Saturday nights in the Pan-Pacific auditorium here against California at Berkeley Feb. 12 and 13 and Stanford at Palo Alto Feb. 26 and 27, Coach Sam Barry plans to work in some of his taller subs in the practice contests this week-end. Sophomores John Kewak at center, Al Bukvich at forward and Dean Olson at guard are among the reserves scheduled to get a try-out against Loyola and the Laemmles.

ARMSTRONG TO BOX TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Henry Armstrong, crack Los Angeles negro featherweight preparing to invade Eastern rings, takes on Moon Mullins, Indiana club fighter, in a 10-round bout tonight at the Olympic auditorium.

Armstrong was a decided favorite to win over the rugged Indiana product.

Fights Last Night

Sports Roundup —By— Eddie Brietz

By SCOTTY RESTON
(Pinch Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK. (AP) — Joe Gould, being about as subtle as a punch in the nose, is shaking his fist across town at Mr. James Joy Johnston. . . . Gould says, among other things, that J. J. J. has ruined boxing in New York, an amusing and somewhat impossible accomplishment. . . . He bases this on Johnston's alleged instructions that Bob Pastor go in and run away from Joe Louis.

* * *

He also says Johnston is going around saying Heavyweight Champion Jimmy Braddock is too old to fight. . . . Gould goes to the last lamp post in the world to back up this one. . . . As evidence he produces a clipping from an Australian paper in which Johnston is quoted as saying "Braddock is too old and any first class man will lick Schmeling." . . . Paradox of this situation is that Johnston works for Madison Square Garden, which is staging the tottering Schmeling-Braddock fight in June.

* * *

Gould's point in the argument is clear enough. . . . He wants to get Braddock out of the Schmeling fight and into the proposed Joe Louis bout in Chicago. . . . He may do it, but he'll have to outshout James Joy Johnston, and out-wit Col. John Reed Kilpatrick's "600 millionaires," and gentlemen, that is a winter's task, even for the voluble and ungrammatical Mr. Gould.

* * *

True story: We sent out an item last night saying Pole Vaulter Sueo Oye of Japan arrived in New York and brought along five poles. . . . Story hadn't been out five minutes when a cub reporter on one of the papers called up and asked: "Say, who were those Poles?" . . . There is an undercurrent of resentment by a Nebraska minority against Dana Bible for quitting out there, but our dope is Bible landed "Biff" Jones as his successor.

* * *

Street scene: Sam Langford, whom many still consider the greatest fighter of the ring, tapping blindly through Harlem selling pictures—of Joe Louis! . . . The boxing writers' dinner in memory of the late Joe Humphreys has created a problem. . . . Receipts for the dinner were to put a stone above the beloved announcer's grave. . . . After the money was collected, they discovered his body lay in a Moravian grave, where only the smallest of head stones may be placed. . . . Soon now he will be spaded up and carried off to another plot in a weird posthumous ceremony.

GILLIS WILL JOIN BROAD JUMPERS

Interclass Meet Slated Feb. 19; Sullivan May Be Frosh Standout

Preparatory to conducting his annual interclass meet Friday, Feb. 19, A. J. (Bill) Cook will assemble his Santa Ana Jaysee track candidates for their first organized drill on Poly field tomorrow afternoon.

Semester examinations and poor weather conditions have prevented Coach Cook from getting an earlier start, but no time will be wasted beginning tomorrow. Tentative dual meets are being arranged with Santa Monica Jaysee and Whittier college to sandwich in with the regular schedule of Eastern conference dual meets with Fullerton, Riverside, Chaffey, Pomona, San Bernardino and Citrus.

McCARTER RETURNS

Oliver McCarter, Orange's snake-hipped quarterback who ran wild for the Dons two seasons ago before injuring an ankle at San Bernardino, was to enroll again at Santa Ana Jaysee today, Coach Bill Cook announced.

McCarter will make up credits which will qualify him for football competition in September.

The Dons open their conference season in five weeks—at Riverside March 6. Meets follow with Fullerton there March 13, Chaffey here March 20, San Bernardino there April 3, Pomona here April 17 and Citrus here April 24.

Santa Ana's chances afield were brighter today with news that Cameron Gillis, who has eclipsed 22 feet, will return for competition in the broad jump. Gillis, ex-Saint star, has been out of college.

Capt. Bill Greschner, off to an early start, already has tossed the 16-pound shot 43 feet on two trials.

Welcome additions will be Tommy Sullivan, the Oklahoman who has run the 220-yard low hurdles in 24.9 and the century in 10.1; and Dick Tauber, Kansas giant who Cook believes will make a good javelin tosser. Tauber is a potential regular at tackle in football next fall.

Ray Cokely, Orange husky who threw the javelin for the Dons two seasons ago, will return, along with Willard Luton, the broad jumper, and George Griffith, the high jumper.

Cook is counting on Lewis Tadlock, the Tustin ace, in the pole vault, and also plans to use broad-jumper Gillis as a vaulter.

Lanky Bob Reif is expected to have a banner year in the hurdles, along with Capt. Greschner.

VAULTER MEADOWS CARRIES TROJAN COLORS IN EAST

Arnold Statz, 39, Plans to Play Ball Until 1942

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—His enthusiasm undulled by 18 seasons as a professional baseball player, Arnold (Jigger) Statz predicted today he would still be playing in 1942.

"If I didn't have fun playing the game I guess I wouldn't keep going," said the star flychaser of the Los Angeles Angels.

"Baseball's been good to me and every spring I get the itch to start off again."

Statz first joined the Angels in 1920 and has been with the club ever since, except for two trips to the big leagues. He began his career upon graduation from Holy Cross in 1919.

The speedy outfielder was 39 his last birthday. For the past two seasons he has led the Coast league in stolen bases; 53 in 1935, 43 last year.

LOS ANGELES.—Earle Meadows, University of Southern California Olympic champion pole vaulter, today is en route to New York City, where on Saturday he will compete in the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden. He will arrive in New York Friday.

Other Eastern indoor meets in which he will compete will be in Boston Feb. 13, the New York Athletic club games in New York Feb. 20 and the National indoor championships in New York Feb. 27. He will fly home immediately after this last meet to register at U. S. C. for the second semester.

In the Eastern meets, the Trojan star, who won the Olympic championship last summer at 14 feet, 3 3-8 inches, will meet old rivals in George Varoff of the University of Oregon and Shuhei Nishida of Japan. Varoff defeated Meadows for the National championship last summer with a world's record vault of 14 feet, 6½ inches, but did not make the Olympic team. Nishida tied with Sueo Oe of Japan for second at 13 feet, 11 3-8 inches in the Olympic games.

CHURCH OF BRETHREN AND C. M. A. CAGERS EXTENDED

Close competition marked opening play in the second half of Community Church league basketball at the Y. M. C. A. last night with a two-point margin deciding both games.

The Church of Brethren outpointed the United Brethren, 38 to 36, despite the latter's acquisition of Melvin Barron and Bill Milligan, Santa Ana High regulars who scored 24 points between them.

Christian Missionary Alliance, with Dick Kendall hitting the loop for eight points, shaded the Midway City Nazarenes, 18 to 16.

Thursday night will be devoted to practice games, pending the completion of second-half schedule arrangements, Secretary Ralph Smedley said.

California Girl Threatens in Miami Golf Tournament

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—Kathryn Hemphill held the favorite's spot today while qualifying play began in the Miami Biltmore women's golf tournament, but the Columbia, S. C., girl saw a California threat in her path.

Dorothy Traung, western champion from San Francisco, is making her first Florida campaign, and the 137-pound Carolinian figures she's the one to beat.

Miss Hemphill gained much backing when she won the championship of champions' play at Punta Gorda last week by thumping Patty Berg, Minneapolis school girl.

Miss Hemphill, whose greatest links feat thus far was gaining the semifinals of the women's national last summer, insists she's just an also ran for golfing honors in her family. "You ought to see my brother Melvin," says she.

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

THIS is going to start with a cat named Cutie and 'nd goodness knows where. On a day like this, a cat named Cutie, or an octupus named Oscar are nice, safe and sane subjects, so don't be surprised if we end up with another cat having eight tails, or something!

That cat named Cutie is a thriving inhabitant of Midway City. Owned by Miss Leora Blakey.

Cutie, as seems to be the nature of cats, at one time liked to wander around and check up on the neighborhood. You know, find out how the new mess of kittens was getting along u pat the Joneses, and if the mice were still bothering the cheese at the Smith residence and such things.

You'll notice I said "was" in the habit!

Because just four days ago, while on one of her wandering sprees (I'm saying "her" advisedly. No self-respecting male cat would be named Cutie) the critter disappeared, causing her owner considerable anguish and worry.

After four days of searching, Miss Blakey discovered Cutie perched high in the branches of a eucalyptus tree.

She called the cat. Nothing happened. She spread tempting morsels at the foot of the tree. Cutie just yowled. Although thirsty and wretched from spending rainy days in the tree, she refused to leave her lofty perch.

Finally, in desperation, the anxious owner summoned the Midway City firemen. Fire Chief Harold Robertson, Assistant Chief Jess Beaver, Chet Campbell and several others answered the call. They raised the tallest ladders in the community, but they fell 10 feet short. A gentle stream of water was turned upon the tree-sitter, but she only climbed higher.

In desperation, the firemen decided to saw off the top branches of the tree, but before they'd gone very far with that Bob Hazard drove by. He saw the excited firefighters, stopped his car and inquired the cause of the trouble.

"Phooey," he exclaimed, "That's nothing. I'll get her down in a jiffy." And he shinned up the tree, grasped Cutie by the nape of the neck and the seat of her trousers, and slid nonchalently down the tree.

And so Cutie returned home, a sadder and wiser feline, although the recognized tree-sitting champion of Midway City.

Whew! From that we'll jump to smudging. Art McBride, one of those militant editors, writes about smudging in a nice way in his La Habra Star. Read him:

Bowl games on New Year's day were played in many places. Starting with the Rose Bowl years ago, each recent year has seen the addition of sugar bowls, cotton bowls, flour bowls, finger bowls, and whatever. Next New Year's I expect to see two teams invited to play in the smudge bowl, with the chief competition for the honor being between Whittier and Pomona. Probably the teams chosen should be composed of negroes, with everybody kept in the dark as to just where the game is being played. The players will be amateurs, but all will be under a cloud. I am foggy as to the choice of officials, but it would be a real pleasure to see one of those cocky referees with white pants and shirt diving into the pile. Nobody ever would know whether he came out again. One crowd of rooters could have wash rags and the other could carry lanterns. For a ball we would recommend a large cake of soap, while the uniforms could be union soots. Various other possibilties can be thought up. I would appreciate any suggestions you can offer, except that I be compelled to attend. The humor of the situation is too grim.

Now, here are some more cats, a la Frank Orr:

Logic doesn't make sense.

That's illogical itself—but it's true. By ruling out the impossible, stirring until thick, and adding a major and minor premise and a conclusion, you get practically any kind of answer—all made to order. Which is what is wrong with statistics, sometimes —they show anything you have your mind made up that they'll show.

For instance, to get down to cases. Sherlock Holmes, the guy with the streamlined hat and the droopy pipe, is credited with saying "rule out the impossible my dear Watson, and that which remains, no matter how improbable it may seem, is your solution."

Ol' Man Sherlock wasn't the first guy to say that, when Conan Doyle put the words in his mouth. The Greeks, who according to the books did nothing but sit around on mountainsides dressed in sheets and wearing grapevines on their heads, had that all figured out long ago.

They invented a way of drawing diagrams, for instance. You'd make them like graphs, or like interlocking circles, or squares. Label the suppositions, shade out the areas that conflict, and what's left is the truth—sometimes.

Which leads up to the conversation about cats. Brick had something to say about Walter, a sinister young purrer who slinks around the Gaines abode and woofs at the dog.

I offered to prove that Walter has eight tails. Here's how, and Socrates himself couldn't say it was wrong. It adds up, even if there is a fallacy, which was in chapter seven which the class did not read.

Walter is a cat. No cat has seven tails. One cat—Walter f'rinstance—has one more tail than no cats. Therefore, Walter has eight tails!

REPORT MADE AT ANNUAL MEETING

Ship 234 Cars of Fruit During 1936, Manager Smale Tells Growers

GARDEN GROVE.—Receipts of the Garden Grove Mutual Orange association for the past year amounted to $207,691, for which the grower received an average of $1.13 per field box of 50 pounds of fruit, Manager E. J. Smale reported at the annual meeting today at the Woman's clubhouse, which opened with a turkey dinner at noon.

The report showed that 234 cars of fruit were handled, 230 of which were valencias and three were navels. Exports amounted to 6500 boxes for 1936, about one-third as many as were exported the previous year.

The grower, Manager Smale reported, received approximately 50c more per field box for the 1936 crop than for that of 1935. Cost of operation during the past year totaled $53,508 of which the major part was spent for labor. At the peak of the season 125 people were employed in the house and fields, he reported.

J. W. Crill, chairman of the board, presided at the meeting, which followed the dinner attended by 165 growers. Several speakers were present from the Mutual Orange distributors at Redlands.

ORANGE SCHOOL WINS TROPHY

ORANGE. — A trophy was presented the local high school Monday by the American Legion, the cup having been won last spring jointly with Brea-Olinda High school in a speaking contest on the constitution.

In the preliminary contest Katherine Sutherland and a Brea student were tied for first place, and it was agreed to allow Brea to keep the trophy for one-half of the year, and Orange high for the other half year.

George Franzen, Americanization chairman of the American Legion, said today that contests will be held between sections in the twenty-first district this year. Section one includes Anaheim, Brea and Fullerton High schools; section two, Orange, Valencia and Tustin schools; section three, Santa Ana, Huntington Beach and Garden Grove, and section four, San Juan Capistrano, Laguna Beach and Newport.

100 See Grange Fashion Show

ANAHEIM. — More than 100 members and friends saw men of the Anaheim Grange present a woman's fashion show during an evening program at Concordia club yesterday.

The affair opened with a dinner and closed with dancing. Featuring the program was presentation of a pin to Al Pape, retiring master, by William Young of Orange, new leader.

Postpone Orange 'Y' Election

ORANGE.—Election of officers of the Y. W. C. A. board was postponed when board members met Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, due to the illness of several members. Officers will be chosen at the March 1 meeting, it was announced.

Miss Audrey Hancock, who represented the local Y. W. C. A. at a district conference at Redlands university, gave a report.

Orange Senior Play Chosen

ORANGE.—The play chosen for the senior class has been announced as "The Bishop Misbehaves," by Frederick Jackson. Ten characters are included, with a possibility that more may be added, Miss Shirley Haynes, dramatics teacher, said.

Yachtsmen Open Bay Season

NEWPORT-BALBOA— Against a background of snowclad mountains summery-looking sails gleamed in the sunlight on Newport Bay over the week-end as yachtsmen and pleasure-seekers forgot smudge pots and cold cures and enjoyed a full day of boating and fun.

Power boats, sailboats, rowboats and canoes mingled with sports fishing boats and commercial fishing craft in the enjoyment of the warm calm that followed the storm.

Visitors from neighboring ports, out for the first real cruise of the year, joined the impromptu regatta within the harbor. Conspicuous was J. Harton Singer's "Navigator," 78-foot schooner and guest-laden big ship of the day.

Viking IV, 54-foot schooner recently sold by Commodore Albert Soiland, was another of the larger craft to find the day just about perfect for a sail.

Motor cruisers chased in and out of the harbor in bunches, and ashore among the knowing there was the feeling that the 1937 boating season was well begun.

CHURCHES HOLD MIDWAY RALLY

MIDWAY CITY.—Members and friends of churches forming the West Orange County council of Religious Education held a rally at the Woman's clubhouse Friday evening with the Community church of Midway City as hosts.

Plans for the teachers training school, which will be held at the Methodist church in Wintersburg Monday evenings through February, were discussed. Dr. Ray Van Deman, Whittier, was the principal speaker, talking on "The Necessity of Religious Training in the Present Day."

Music for the program was provided by Mrs. Boyd Fury, secretary of the council. The evening closed with a fellowship hour and refreshments served under the direction of Mrs. C. R. Hart.

Churches in the council include the Methodist church, Huntington Beach; Methodist church of Wintersburg; Presbyterian, Westminster; Methodist and Baptist churches, Garden Grove; Friends church, Los Alamitos; Community church, Midway City and the Nazarene church, Midway City.

Club to Meet At Barber City

BARBER CITY.—Members of the Barber City Woman's club will name delegates to attend the district federation meeting at Brea, February 13, at the regular meeting tomorrow. Mrs. Alma Best, president of the club, will preside and Mrs. Ben Upham will serve as hostess during the tea hour.

Definite announcement of the date of the next community potluck dinner will be made during the afternoon.

Income Advice Offered at H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—A deputy collector of internal revenue will be at the chamber of commerce Feb. 15 to 17 to assist in preparation of income tax returns, it was announced today.

Single persons with a net income of $1000, or a gross income of $5000, are required to file returns. Married couples must file on net incomes of more than $2500.

BIRTHDAY BALL DRAWS 500

LAGUNA BEACH—Celebrating on two dance floors and with a combined attendance exceeding 500, the annual President's ball was held last Saturday at Hotel Laguna and the Laguna Ballroom.

Funds received from the benefit will be used to aid in fighting infantile paralysis, with 70 per cent to be used locally and the remaining 30 per cent going to the Warm Springs Foundation.

Assisting Andrew S. Hall, general chairman, were Mrs. Carl Benson, Mrs. Earl Hatheway, Mrs. Jack Caley, Mrs. Everett Tawney, Mrs. Lytle Rankin, Mrs. Ada Purpus, Mrs. Mary Holland Kincaid, Edna Damron, Joe Frenette, William J. Harris, Ray Fisher, Gaylord Fanning, L. F. Mallow, George A. Portus and John Gibson.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jack Caley, Mrs. G. A. Portus, Mrs. Grace Lucky and Miss Mary Isch.

Orange Woman Buried Monday

ORANGE.—Funeral services for Mrs. Ina B. Wilson, 77, were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the C. W. Coffey Funeral chapel, with burial in Santa Ana cemetery. Rites were in charge of the Rev. F. T. Porter, Los Angeles, former pastor of the Santa Ana Christian church.

Mrs. Wilson died Saturday afternoon at the home of a stepdaughter, Mrs. Frank B. Stipp, Brea, whom she was visiting. She had made her home with a daughter, Mrs. G. W. Wells, 272 North Center street, for the past year. Her husband, George Wells, was city marshal in 1920.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. G. W. Wells, Orange; Mrs. E. D. Lucas, Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. A. G. Stamm, Vista; two sons, Frank C. Wilson and George R. Wilson, Pasadena; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Frank B. Stipp, Brea; Mrs. Earl Wright, Villa Park, and Mrs. Sarah Owens, Redlands; 25 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren also survive.

Speers Entertain Wyoming Rancher

OCEANVIEW.—Mrs. Edith Bennet, owner of large ranch interests near Medicine Bow, Wyo., is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Speer.

It is on this ranch that Speer found many of the interesting Indian relics that form part of his exhibit at the Western Trails museum.

COAST LIGHT PROGRAM IS DISCUSSED

Visions of a string of sodium mercury lights to guide the motorist through fogs that frequently blanket the Coast highway were aroused last night by a discussion brought before the board of directors of the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce, meeting at the Green Cat cafe, Santa Ana.

E. B. Sharpley brought the discussion to a close with a motion that delegates take the matter up with their respective chambers and report at the next regular meeting of the major group. Sharpley explained that in some instances state highway money is being spent for such lighting.

Apprehension of two measures before the state legislature restricting contributions by public utility concerns and by city councils and county supervisors to chamber of commerce budgets led to a motion asking chambers to take action and make recommendations.

The next meeting will be in charge of the legislative committee which has been instructed to invite the county's three members of the state legislature to attend. The meeting will be held at Yorba Linda Feb. 23.

NEW BEACH ART EXHIBIT TOLD

LAGUNA BEACH.—Reopening tomorrow after being closed three days for changing of exhibits, the Laguna Beach Art gallery will present a new display by representative artists.

Pictures are being submitted and will be chosen by the selection committee with William A. Griffith, chairman and assisted by Boris Miller, Joane Cromwell, Theodosia Gould, A. P. Fleming, Thomas L. Hunt, and Louise Everett Nimmo.

On display now is the group of small paintings which are being auctioned under the book auction plan with funds received to be used in paying off the mortgage.

A photographic exhibit is being arranged by Ted Cook and it will go on display tomorrow, with the reopening of the gallery.

BEACH ARTIST'S WIFE DIES

LAGUNA BEACH. — Suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage, Mrs. Blanche Hunt, wife of the well-known artist, Thomas L. Hunt, died at her home Saturday evening.

Mrs. Hunt was born May 8, 1880, at Belfast, Ireland, and lived here for 20 years. Besides her husband, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Agnes Thorogood, San Bernardino.

Funeral services were this morning at 10 a. m. at the Laguna Funeral home, with the Rev. Robert M. Hogarth presiding. Burial was in Mountain View cemetery, at San Bernardino.

LAGUNANS SEEK FLOOD FUND

LAGUNA BEACH.—Aiming to double the quota asked to aid flood sufferers in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, the Red Cross chapter with Thomas L. Cummings as chairman, has raised $1004 and will continue the drive during the week.

The fund of $625 originally asked was quickly raised, but realizing the pressing need for funds, the drive is being continued.

Aiding Cummings in the emergency drive are George W. Prior, Brayton Norton, Andrew B. Marshall and Mrs. Harry Gordon Martin.

LIGHT TOURNEY DATE IS SET

WESTMINSTER.—A Founders' day program of the Westminster P.-T. A., originally scheduled for last Monday night and postponed on account of closing of the school, is now slated for Monday evening, Feb. 8.

The executive board has planned an unusual program to observe the fortieth anniversary of the association.. Included in the program is a tree-planting ceremony in charge of Mrs. Iva Meairs; a talk by Orion Bebermeyer, superintendent of the local schools on "Music and its Place in the Child's Life;" a string trio with Mrs. E. L. Hensley, Mrs. Orion Bebermeyer and Miss Dorothy Proctor, will play several numbers, and refreshments will be served at the close of the evening.

CLUB BIRTHDAY IS NOTED

ORANGE. — The twenty-second annual birthday luncheon of the Orange Woman's club was held Monday at the clubhouse with past presidents as guests of honor. Hostesses were Mrs. Walter Kogler, president, and members of the executive board.

After club members were seated at the luncheon tables, two pages, Mrs. Keller Watson, jr., and Mrs. Thomas B. Rhone, escorted past presidents to their places. Each was presented a corsage.

Following the luncheon Serafim Strelkoff, Russian baritone, sang and spoke, his lecture recital entitled, "Around the World on a Song." He traveled around the world in three years, earning his way by singing, he said.

HEARING SET ON HARBOR EXPENSES

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — Hearings before the senate committee on commerce in reference to allocation for harbor maintenance will begin Feb. 15, according to Congressman Harry R. Sheppard.

"This is of particular interest to our Newport harbor," stated Sheppard. "Maj. Gen. E. F. Markham of the war department has recommended that $15,000 be spent annually toward maintenance of Newport harbor, provided local interests furnish suitable spoil disposal areas as required. I will do everything possible to push the plan for federal maintenance through the army and navy subcommittee for appropriations."

RITES SET FOR H. B. TUDOR

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — Funeral services for Harry B. (Pop) Tudor will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the Dixon chapel at Balboa, with Dr. Harry Raymond for the Unity Center in Los Angeles to read the service. Burial will be in Westminster Memorial park.

Mr. Tudor, long identified in the amusement field here, was known to thousands of young folk in Southern California, whom he had greeted as ballroom manager for the Balboa Beach Amusement company. He had lived in the Newport-Balboa district for nearly 20 years, and leaves a grandson, Harry Tudor Grand, Los Angeles.

Wintersburg Aid Meeting Slated

WINTERSBURG.—The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church will meet Wednesday afternoon in the church library.

Members attending a recent meeting at Costa Mesa will present their report. The group included Mrs. W. Allen Young, Mrs. Charles Applebury, Mrs. John Freeman, Mrs. Arlington Lewis, Mrs. Mildred Witte, Mrs. Lloyd Hylton and Mrs. J. H. Thompson.

Attend Matrons' Society Dinner

BARBER CITY.—Mrs. Ben Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hilborn, Mr. and Mrs. Shotwell, Mrs. Anna Olsen and Mrs. V. B. Spikes were members of a party attending a dinner given by the Young Matrons' society in honor of the Happy Workers recently.

RECOVERS FROM ILLNESS

BARBER CITY.—Mrs. Jane McAlum, who has been confined to her home by illness, has recovered.

DANGEROUS LANDINGS

By LOIS BULL—Author of 'Captive Goddess'

CHAPTER XXXII

Flane leered triumphantly as he removed the blindfold from Linda's eyes. Seeing her uncle on the other side of the iron grill, she ran toward him.

"Uncle, what have they done to you."

"Nothing yet, my dear."

At that moment, a sharp command came from Flane. One of the guards seized Linda and dragged her away, twisting her arm. She cried out with pain.

"Well, Marshall, are you ready to tell me the combination?" Flane asked.

Linda called out: "Don't tell him, Uncle! He won't dare do anything to us without the formula!" For she realized that this must be the secret inner cave and that her uncle was, in some way, guarding it.

Flane took a small vial from his pocket. From it, he took a stopper.

"Marshall," he said, "unless you tell me how to open that gate, I will be forced to do something I do not care to do. You know what is in this vial. A few drops of it forced into Miss Marshall's mouth, and she will die."

He was forcing Linda's lips open. The vial was but a few inches from her mouth. Then Marshall shouted:

"Stop! Step on three, then down on one, and up to the second."

Flane recorked the bottle. A few moments later, the great iron gate had been released. Flane ordered Marshall bound, then had Linda blindfolded again.

"But you promised . . ." she cried.

"I promised that, when I had the formula, your uncle would be set free. Until then, you are to be my hostage. But not for much longer, I hope."

Linda was taken back to the villa and put in her room under guard. It seemed hours later when the door opened and Flane stood before her. In his hand was a small notebook. He held it before her eyes and turned the pages.

"See! There they are—in your uncle's handwriting."

"But where is my uncle?" Linda demanded.

"Upon further consideration I feel that it is necessary to keep you from seeing your uncle until I have left the island. He is quite safe from any further annoyances. Quite safe!" Linda shivered at the note in his voice.

Just then, the man whom Linda knew to be in charge of the radio room came running down the hall.

"There is a plane above! They are asking for directions to land. What shall I say? You did not tell me to expect them, sir."

"They are probably friends of Miss Marshall," Flane answered. "Give directions for landing on the Cliff of the Sun. We will come with you. Miss Marshall will want to speak to her friends."

He beckoned for her to follow him. "You are to act," he instructed her privately, "as if nothing unusual had happened."

When Linda got on the radiophone and heard Jerry's voice, she was trembling. But she managed to sound gay and pleased. Flane didn't miss the way her face lighted up. This Jerry Mitchell! He was another enemy to contend with.

Within a few moments, he had explained to Linda her part in welcoming the new arrivals.

"You are to say that your uncle and Tommy Drew are in the secret laboratory. You must make them believe it. I cannot guarantee the safety of your uncle unless you do as I say."

Linda agreed fearfully.

As she and Flane were leaving the house to go to the landing field, a messenger came. Flane went back into the house. He called one of his servants and, handing him a white pellet, said: " man called Kirkbrae will be here. When he asks for a whiskey and soda—or if it is tea—be sure this is dissolved in his first drink. He will be very tired and will need a long sleep." For the messenger had just told Flane that the submarine would not be ready to leave the island before midnight. The engines had been giving trouble.

Linda and Flane, on the Cliff of the Sun, watched the great plane make a perfect landing. Then she saw Kirkbrae climb out. Then Buddy Whitaker. At last—Jerry! She ran to him with a glad cry. She just managed to whisper, "Flane's dangerous. Be careful," when the man himself came up.

"Well, Angus, you go here a little sooner than I expected," Flane said suavely. "Coppy and Tommy Drew are up to their ears in work in the secret laboratory. I'm afraid Miss Marshall has found me very boring company."

Chattering of unimportant things, they arrived at the villa, where drinks appeared magically. Linda didn't have a moment alone with Jerry, but she could feel his eyes upon her. Not by the slightest indication had he or Kirkbrae let on that they were surprised at finding Flane already at the island.

Suddenly Kirkbrae sneezed. "I think I must have caught cold. Kerchoo!"

"Have another drink!" Flane refilled his glass, but Kirkbrae had downed his first drink at one gulp.

A few minutes later, Flane suggested that the newcomers might like to have a look around the island.

"It's an interesting place, and Marshall and Drew probably won't show themselves before dinner."

But something had happened to Kirkbrae. He was yawning prodigiously.

"I guess I'm not up to it. But the rest of you go along. I'll throw myself out on this lounge here and have a nap."

A triumphant gleam came into Flane's eyes as he led the others into the garden. In the center was a large lotus pond, filled with fantastic tropical fish. Jerry and Buddy were entranced.

Flane took the opportunity to draw Linda aside. "You're in love with Jerry Mitchell, aren't you?" he said bluntly, as he appeared to be showing her a handsome tropical lily. "At first I thought it was this Tommy chap. But I was wrong. I see it's Mitchell.

Linda's face gave her away.

"Then, my dear Miss Marshall," said Flane with a smile, "be very careful to fall in with my every suggestion this afternoon. And be sure you don't give me away. You wouldn't like anything to happen to your Jerry, would you?"

He saw her eyes turn frantically toward Jerry. He smiled, and called out:

"Miss Marshall has just suggested that, if you boys want to see the general laboratories, we'd better be getting on."

"Yes, Jerry, said Linda, "you'll find them perfectly fascinating."

But her eyes dropped. How was she to let Jerry and Buddy know what had already happened on the island.

HIGH SCHOOL COSTS BEAT AVERAGE

But Elementary Figures in Orange County Are Somewhat Lower

Orange county "goes along with the crowd" pretty consistently in spending money for education. It spends a little less per elementary student in current expenses than the average county in the state. It's noticeably above the average in current expenses per high school student.

Stacked up beside counties with school populations comparable to Orange county's, it spends more on current expenses for both elementary and high school students, with the exception of Kern county.

Effect of Depression

This situation was revealed in the February Tax Digest of the California Taxpayers association. The publication also showed how school costs went down during the depression and began to rise as prosperity started to return.

Orange county, with an average daily attendance of 16,230 in 1935-36, spent $91.91 per pupil on current expenses in elementary schools. The state average was $93.07. Kern county spent $105.53, Riverside county $72.12, San Bernardino county $79.87, and Santa Clara county $89.08. The average daily attendance in these counties ranged from 12,128 in Riverside county to 18,485 in San Bernardino county.

Comparative Costs

For high school students in 1935-36 current expenses in Orange county averaged $172.06. The state average was $151.38. Kern county spent $195.77, Riverside county spent $136.43, San Bernardino county spent $136.08 and Santa Clara county spent $149.46.

For elementary schools in 1935-36 the average total outlay per student in Orange county, including current expense, capital outlay and bond interest, was $124.06. For the high schools it was $269.69.

Kern county's total for elementary schools was $123.60, and for high schools, $241.54; Riverside county, $89.39 for elementary and $168.20 for high schools; San Bernardino county, $92.45 for elementary and $186.50 for high schools; Santa Clara county, $96.75 for elementary schools and $185.60 for high schools.

Woman With 400 Descendants Says "Don't Wed"

ROY, Utah. (AP)—On her 101st birthday anniversary yesterday Mary Garner, who says she has 400 living descendants, advised against marriage.

"Don't get married," she admonished young women, in an interview.

"You can never learn the ways of men—not even when you marry them."

Mentally alert and in good health, hearing and vision, Mrs. Garner celebrated the first year of her second century at the Northern Utah home here of a 78-year-old daughter. She proudly boasts she has 450 descendants, of whom 400 are living.

Science Lesson Topic Is Love

"The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing" This verse from Zephaniah was the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

One of the Scriptural selections presented the verses from Luke: "And it came to pass, that as he was come nigh unto Jericho, a certain blind mand sat by the way side begging: . . . And he cried, saying, Jesus, thou son of David, have mercy on me. . . . And Jesus stood, and commanded him to be brought unto him: and when he was come near, he asked him, saying, What wilt thou that I shall do unto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receive my sight. And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee."

The Lesson-Sermon included also this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Rockefeller Lives Life of Recluse

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The heavy iron gate at the driveway of John D. Rockefeller's estate, The Casements, is open and unguarded, but few enter now.

The multi-millionaire, in his ninety-seventh year, is maintaining the strict seclusion instituted in 1934. Those who knew him as "Neighbor John" respect his wish that he be left alone with his household.

The cheerful parties, the giving of dimes as mementoes, the church work and other activities are not a part of his present life.

His appearance is unchanged from three years ago, those who know him say.

ARMY FINISHES FLOOD REPORT

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard today announced that the Santa Ana river flood control area report has been completed by Major Theodore Wyman of the war department flood control division in California and is expected to arrive at the war department in Washington this week.

However, due to the Ohio river flood tragedy, all executive officers of the flood control board are in the Ohio valley at the present time and it is estimated that this will delay consideration of the report until about Feb. 15.

Sheppard indicated that all contacts with the war department indicated a very favorable attitude toward the project.

"Chief of Engineers General E. F. Markham, has recommended 40 million dollars for flood control during the next fiscal year. While the national budget director has recommended 30 million, it is estimated a sufficient appropriation will be available for the next fiscal year toward approved projects that are cleared and ready to proceed when appropriations are available," Sheppard stated, "I wish to express my appreciation to the Orange county board of supervisors for their splendid cooperation and interest in this project."

NEW BILL HITS WAR PROFITS

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Senator Conally (D., Tex.) urged congress yesterday to "take the profits out of war "by enacting a drastic system of wartime taxation and industrial control.

His legislation, which would go into effect automatically the day war is declared, is aimed to put future conflicts virtually on a "pay as you fight" basis.

"It musters money as well as men," Connally said, "by providing for the drafters of industrial plants, factories, munitions and supplies. It effectively carries out the policy of the American Legion to draft industry and wealth."

Jewish Accent for 'Hitler' Costs $125

LONDON, Feb. 2. (AP)—A comedian and a theater manager were fined today for representing Adolf Hitler with a supposedly Jewish accent.

The comedian, Hal Bryan, was fined $50 and Manager Thomas Piggott of King's theater, Hammersmith, paid $75.

The action was brought by the Lord Chancellor. The court was told that the scene, not a part of the original, licensed script, had Bryan, made up as Herr Hitler, rushing onto the stage, giving the nazi salute and crying: "Vot iss diss all aboudt?"

Pope Outlines Summer Plans

VATICAN CITY. (AP) — Pope Pius XI contracted future engagements today as though he considered death unlikely to prevent fulfillment.

Although his return to active consideration of church affairs was reported to have aggravated his suffering, the Holy Father was understood to be planning to go to his Castel Gandolfo summer residence at the end of May.

Canada May Ban Quint Advertising

OTTAWA. (Canadian Press)—The Dionne quintuplets, already under the guardianship of the Ontario government, are to be provided with more legislative protection. Authoritative sources said a bill is to be introduced in the Canadian house of commons to forbid unauthorized use of their name for commercial purposes.

Council Meets For Six Hours And Sets Record

A new all-time record was set by the Santa Ana city council last night.

It was a record for length of meeting time. During the afternoon, at an informal session, and in the evening, during the official session, the city dads met for six long hours.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland said it set an all-time record for the city trustees, who met at 3:30 p. m., adjourned briefly for dinner, and met again at 8 p. m., not adjourning until 10:30 p. m.

City Council Notes

The city council last night:

Gave first reading to an ordinance providing for the creation of a traffic safety commission and a group of 5 secret police to aid in cutting down traffic accidents.

Accepted a deed from the county for an acre of park land in the Santiago creek park project area.

Gave permission to the Home Oil company to construct a service station on the northeast corner of Chestnut and Main streets after a hearing was held and no protests registered.

Granted permission to the Brown and Wagner mortuary to construct a new mortuary building at Sycamore and Seventeenth streets.

Set Feb. 15 as the date for a special hearing on the matter of moving the auto camp on North Main street across to the west side of Main street from the east side at the Santiago bridge.

Accepted bond and a map on a new subdivision on North Flower street provided the subdividers agree to put in sidewalks and maps and deed 15 feet of property along the subdivision to the city.

Granted permission to hang four electric signs, one at the police station on Third street, one for Ed Zirinsky at 616 East Fourth street, one for the Collins garage at 114 North Sycamore street and one for the Institute of Music at 409 West Fourth street.

Granted permits to Bert Dawson, Gilbert Wagner and D. H. Betten to operate merchant patrol services in the city.

Denied a request made two weeks ago by Milton Foster to use city funds to help pay expenses of broadcasting WPA band and orchestra programs over KVOE.

Referred the matter of the marchants' division of the chamber of commerce hanging two signs across streets advertising dollar day to the chief of police and police commissioner with power to act.

Authorized signing of a minute order on a WPA project to start work on a Santiago creek park project between Main and Santiago streets.

Authorized signing of a continuation project to complete another section of the Santiago creek parkway project.

Referred four proposed six-year projects to the planning commission for inclusion in a national six-year planning program for public works.

Authorized signing of a project for submission to WPA for Seventeenth street storm drain construction work.

Granted permission to the Disabled American Veterans to sell tickets for the military ball on the streets.

Appointed a new assistant building inspector and started action to amend the city building ordinance to boost the plastering inspection rate.

Delayed action on a request from Mrs. Margaret Karl to construct an apartment house on the southeast corner of First and Van Ness streets until plans and specifications are filed with the city clerk.

DELAY WENDEL KIDNAP TRIAL

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP) — The trial of three men charged with the kidnaping and assault of Paul H. Wendel, former Trenton, N. J., attorney, a year ago was postponed for one week.

Wendel charges he was held captive and forced to confess the slaying of the Lindbergh baby. His alleged detention by captors in Brooklyn and at the New Lisbon, N. J., colony for feeble minded resulted in a two day stay of execution for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, who was electrocuted April 3, 1936, for the Lindbergh baby murder.

The three defendants, present at today's adjournment, were Martin Schlossman, Harry Weiss and Murray Bleefeld, all of Brooklyn.

Fourteen Finish Jaysee Courses

Fourteen students compose the February list of graduates who had completed their first two years of college work at Santa Ana Junior college yesterday.

With the completion of the first semester last week, the 14 graduates had finished the prescribed work for junior college graduation. They will receive junior certificates.

Those composing the graduating class are Norman Caldwell, Frances Crowther, Franklin Davis, Helen Gardiner, Vernon Koepsel, Audrey McDonald, Marion Mattson, John Ramirez, Richard Shepard, Elizabeth Sturtevant, Chester Wafford, Marjorie Wakeham, Frances Was and Joe Yocam.

Save 2 Workmen Buried By Slide

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Two workmen, buried beneath six tons of muddy earth in a sewer excavation yesterday, are recovering from the injuries, physicians said today.

Juan Santos, 34, and Tofilio Adams, 42, were trapped by a slide in a 19-foot ditch at Highland avenue near Franklin. Rescue crews worked feverishly until the faces of the victims were uncovered and then resuscitation efforts were successful.

Indian Leases Void At Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS. (AP)—Forty business concerns were affected today by federal regulations cancelling all leases or agreements between Indians of the Palm Springs reservations and white persons.

A federal trader's permit will be required to do business on Indian lands, officials announced. The acreage adjoins and partly surrounds this fashionable desert resort.

Matanuska Colony On Cash Basis

PALMER, Alaska. (AP)—Matanuska colonists received notice today from the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation they would be placed on a cash basis and the system of providing subsistance on credit would be stopped.

Sheely explained the new system was started to encourage the colonists to clear land and erect buildings.

Jean Harlow Up After Flu Attack

CHICAGO. (AP)—Film actress Jean Harlow, and her mother, Mrs. Jean Bello, reported ill with influenza, were returning today to Hollywood on the Santa Fe Chief. Miss Harlow and Robert Taylor, film actor, are in a party which attended the President's Birthday ball in Washington.

PATROL DEAL LEAVES OUT LOCKHART

Frank Lockhart, who operated a merchant patrol service here until he got into a row with another patrolman, Bert Dawson, was left out in the cold last night.

The city council failed to even mention his name when it passed out three appointments for merchant patrol businesses under terms of the new ordinance, which two weeks ago Attorney B. Z. McKinney said was "vicious" and "unconstitutional."

Permits to operate merchant patrol services were awarded to Dawson, D. H. Betten and Gilbert Wagner. The latter permit was issued of and when Wagner makes his application in proper form, which City Attorney L. W. Blodget said has not yet been done.

The permits were issued with the understanding that the three men submit maps of the territory where they will operate, to Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard. Under the new ordinance, the city is given power to set up districts and the chief of police to regulate the patrol services.

It was understood, from statements of councilmen, that Dawson will be given the territory he now is working, which includes the area from Walnut to Washington east of Main street. Wagner, it was understood, will get the similar territory west of Main street. The balance of the city will go to Betten, who is a private detective. It also was understood that Betten and Wagner have some sort of working agreement, whereby they will cooperate in offering night patrol service to merchants and others.

ACTRESS ROBBED

HOLLYWOOD. (AP) — Diamonds and jeweled heirlooms worth several thousand dollars were missing today after a week-end burglary at the apartment of Elizabeth Allen, English screen actress. Miss Allen told police the jewelry was insured.

Famed Auctioneer Dies of Pneumonia

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — C. H. O'Connor, 70, credited with selling $25,000,000 worth of California real estate during his 34 years as an auctioneer, died at his home here after a brief illness with pneumonia.

A number of homes belonging to motion picture stars and other celebrities were sold under his hammer. Sale of the Prior estate in San Francisco for $2,091,000 was one of his largest deals.

Delineator May Change Hands

NEW YORK. (AP)—A proposal to sell "Delineator," women's fashion magazine, will be acted on at a special meeting on Feb. 11, directors of Butterick Co., Inc., notified stockholders.

A loss of about $1,000,000 would be incurred by publishing the magazine throughout 1937, directors said, disclosing they have a prospective purchaser and urging authorization of the sale.

Butterick Co., Inc., publishes fashion magazines and dress patterns.

HALF SPAIN'S PRIESTHOOD MURDERED

VATICAN CITY. (AP)—Statistics published in the Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano, and attributed to the Spanish college in Rome asserted today between 40 and 50 per cent of the Spanish priesthood and 11 bishops have been killed "by reds" in the civil war.

The article said:

"Before the war the Spanish clergy was composed of 600 bishops, 33,500 priests and 20,640 members of religious orders."

Letters from bishops and priests and testimony of 188 priests and bishops who fled Spain to come to Rome, the paper said, "indicate for all Spain that 40 to 50 per cent of the priests and 11 bishops have been assassinated by the reds.

"Many localities have been victims of hatred of the Communists but that does not mean precise orders have been given in regard to them. But the massacre of priests and destruction of churches was certainly ordered in high quarters.

"It is still difficult to say who was responsible for these high orders."

Burglar Alarm Rings All Night

When the county treasurer's burglar alarm went off Sunday, sheriff's officers were more worried about how to turn it off than why it went off.

And today, they didn't have an answer to either question. The alarm sounded at 2 p. m. Sunday, but the time lock wouldn't let Treasurer T. E. Stephenson open up the vault and turn off the bell.

So it had to ring all day and all night in the sheriff's office. The alarm at Stephenson's office, however, quiet after a couple of hours. An expert checked the wiring.

Is WASH DAY "WISH" DAY?

Not with an Automatic Gas Water Heater!

Plenty of Hot Water quickly, economically

No more waiting for water to heat! A turn of the faucet is all the "work" required to have plentiful hot water. You get abundant supplies for other uses, too, with an automatic gas water heater. It's faster because natural gas is faster. It's economical because natural gas costs less.

To own a modern adequate automatic gas water heater is far better than just to wish you did! Ask your dealer or gas company about the water heaters with tanks of Monel Metal or of Everdur copper, for long, satisfactory service. Easy terms available on gas water heaters of all types.

SANTA ANA PLANS $880,000 WPA PROGRAM FOR NEXT SIX YEARS

URGE ADDING WORKERS ON WPA STAFF

Committee Pushes Plan For Separate Local Headquarters

Seventy residents of Orange county will get good-paying jobs on the WPA administrative staff if the Orange County Democratic Central committee's program to divorce the county WPA setup from San Diego county is successful.

In the first official announcement of the movement launched by the committee, Chairman B. Z. McKinney said today that Orange county can be set up as a separate division not connected with San Diego, where district headquarters now are, if the plan meets with favor at Washington, D. C.

Ask Solons' Aid

Senators and congressmen at Washington have been contacted by the central committee, and it is hoped that they will come to the aid of Orange county in the suggested changes.

McKinney pointed out that two per cent of the total case load is allowed for executive personnel. On that basis Orange county could have 70 administrative workers instead of seven or eight, as now is the case, he said.

Too Much Travel

If Orange county cannot be a separate division, then the central committee here would prefer that it be in a district with Riverside and San Bernardino rather than being a secondary part of the San Diego-Orange county district.

Another thing the Democrats here don't like is that it is troublesome and inefficient to governmental agencies sponsoring WPA projects to have them shuttled back and forth to San Diego, then to San Francisco, then to Washington, then back through a circuitous route back here.

ACCEPT FLOWER TRACT MAP

Progress in working out details to permit launching of subdivision work in the territory on the west side of North Flower street between Washington and Fifteenth street, was made by the city council and planning commission last night.

Representing the subdividers, W. W. Hoy submitted a map of proposed lots in the district and posted a $1000 bond to insure fulfilment of agreements.

The council accepted the map and bond on condition that the agreement with the city regarding building the curbs and walks, as recommended by City Engineer J. L. McBride and the planning body, be drawn up.

Under terms of the agreement the city will accept a deed to a 15-foot strip of property along the subdivision, most of which will be used for parkings and walks.

Teacher Illness Helps Close School

School's out at Garden Grove, and this time it isn't all the fault of the youngsters, either.

Elementary schools were closed Friday and remained closed today because teachers, as well as their ailing charges, were unable to attend classes.

School officials said that enough substitute teachers could not be obtained to fill positions temporarily vacant due to illness, so the elementary institutions will remain closed until Thursday.

Garden Grove high school was not affected, it was reported.

NAME PATMORE AS AIDE TO INSPECTOR

A new city official was on the payroll today.

He was employed by the city council last night to assist Building Inspector Harold Rasmussen in inspecting buildings, a job which has doubled in size in recent months since the building boom came along.

On motion of Councilman William Penn, the city hired Edward E. Patmore at a salary of $115 a month to act as assistant building inspector. Patmore, who once served the city in the same capacity, will inspect plaster and roofing jobs.

At the same time the council voted to amend the city building ordinance to increase the inspection charge on plastering jobs from one-half cent a square yard to one cent a square yard. This will help defray part of the expenses of the new man, it was said, although the building inspector's office now is self-supporting because of the huge increase in number of building permits being issued.

It was explained that the Builders Exchange and pasterers of the city desire the services of the inspector to keep up the high standards of work. It was said that many builders are being cheated by "fly-by-night" contractors who spread the plaster too thin.

Anaheim Woman Leaves $37,000

When Lillie L. Bennett, Anaheim, died Jan. 25 at the age of 77 years, she left her entire $37,000 estate to her 76-year-old sister in Connecticutt, her will, filed in court here yesterday, revealed.

A. Curtis Case of Anaheim, named as executor in the will, filed the document for probate. The sole heir is Annie A. Strockbridge of Meridan, Conn.

Mrs. Bennett left nearly $10,000 in cash, more than $11,000 in stocks and bonds, and a 10-acre orange grove valued at $15,000. Her will was dated Sept. 15, 1936.

23 Soldiers Die In Avalanche

CUNEO, Italy. (AP)—Twenty-three Alpine soldiers were killed, government officials disclosed today, in an avalanche of snow Saturday while reconnoitering in the Italian Alps. The tragedy had been kept strictly secret.

PERMIT GIVEN FOR NEW S. A. MORTUARY

Permission to erect a $40,000 mortuary at the southwest corner of Sycamore and Seventeenth streets was granted the firm of Brown and Wagner last night by the city council.

The permission was granted in spite of a petition directed to the city council protesting the erection of a mortuary on the location specified in an application for the permit by Mrs. Emma McCullough, made two weeks ago.

Thirty Signers

The protest was registered by 30 property owners and residents near the new location of the mortuary, who said the value of property in the district would be lowered, the corner would be obstructed and be more dangerous.

Attorney Otto Jacobs, representing the mortuary interests, who were present en masse, submitted two petitions, one of them by part of the persons who had signed the petition of protest, asking that their names be withdrawn from the former petition.

Not New Project

Jacobs said a mistaken idea was prevalent in that some of the persons believed the plan was to have another mortuary in the city, whereas it was a case of moving the Brown and Wagner Funeral home across the street into the new building, which he said would be the finest mortuary in the county.

The second petition represented property owners in the vicinity of Sycamore and Seventeenth street who approved the plan and said they believed the new mortuary building would be an asset.

The council referred the matter to the planning commission, which group recommended approval. The property had been posted for special use and a public hearing was held last night.

Banners to Tell Of Dollar Day

Merchants of Santa Ana want to put the Dollar Day merchandising event, to be held Feb. 13, over in a big way.

And so last night Ivie Stein, in a letter addressed to the city council, asked permission to hang two cloth banners across streets of the city to advertise the event.

It is understood that the council will make no objections to the proposal, although the only action taken by the council last night was to refer the matter to the city police commissioner and chief of police, with power to act.

Romance Starts For New Record

After breaking all modern records in 1936, the marriage license bureau of County Clerk J. M. Backs' office today gave promise of repeating in 1937.

Licenses issued in January totaled 307, a gain of four over the same month of 1936. January, Backs pointed out, is a light month for marriages, following on the heels of the Christmas and New Years holidays which many choose for their nuptials.

Officer Hurt in Speeder Chase

Skidding on his motorcycle while pursuing a speeder, Officer H. D. Allison of Laguna Beach suffered a broken arm and bruises yesterday at Diamond street and Coast boulevard, South Laguna.

Allison was treated for his injuries by Dr. B. B. Mason and returned to his home at 385 Locust street.

CAMERA CLUB TAKES FOUR AWARDS

Entries at Stanford's Art Museum Exhibit Will Come to Laguna

Four photographs from Orange County Camera club members have been selected for the first annual far western inter-club salon of photography, hung in Stanford university art museum. Out of 1189 prints submitted, 173 were selected.

This year's salon is the first attempt to study contemporary standards in Western America by serious working amateurs. Every group west of the Mississippi was invited to compete. The judges were P. Douglas Anderson, F. R. P. S., instructor of photography at Berkeley, George Allen Young, editor of Camera Craft magazine, and Fred Frey, artist of the Allied Arts Guild, Menlo Park.

Two First Awards

The club competition was won by Pasadena photographers, who had 25 prints accepted. Ten first awards were made, and two of these went to pictures from the Orange County club.

Arrangements have been made to bring the complete salon to Southern California, where it will hang at Laguna Beach art gallery for the next three weeks. The exhibition will be broken up March 1.

The Orange County Camera club will hold its monthly meeting Thursday night, when members will submit prints made recently at Art Center school, in Los Angeles, where the Orange county camera workers were invited to photograph emotion expressions of models.

Genthe Invited Here

An effort will be made to have Arnold Genthe, one of the world's greatest photographers, address the Orange county club. Genthe is now in Hollywood. His recent book, "As I Remember," is a best seller, and his photographs of the San Francisco earthquake and fire are considered photographic classics. He is also noted for his books of photographs of dancers and of world notables.

Jaysee Students Register Today

Registration was being completed today at Santa Ana Junior college as new students and freshmen were signing up for the second semester.

Sophomores registered yesterday. Instruction for the second semester will begin tomorrow. Few new students were expected to matriculate at the college because of the mid-term. Enrollment at the college was not expected to show much increase.

Registrar Mabel G. Whiting and her staff of instructors and students were busy signing students up for their courses. Seventeen instructors have been named for this semester's registration.

A radio-electricity course has been added for the second semester's curriculum, as has a nutrition course. Second semester work in the art, commerce, English, language, journalism, science and history departments is being continued.

Aid for Blind $25 in December

Blind in Orange county received an average of $25.12 each in December state aid payments, more than $10 less than the state average, according to a report released today by Mrs. Florence Turner, director of the state department of social welfare.

She reported that 37 blind cases in this county were paid $929.29. In the state as a whole, 4526 persons were paid $159,005.53 during December, an average of $35.21.

Radio Project for City Is Dropped

The city of Santa Ana has spent or allocated funds for advertising and music purposes for this fiscal year.

This was given as the reason for refusal of the request of Milton Foster, made two weeks ago that the city aid in financing a series of broadcasts over KVOE by the Orange county WPA orchestra and band.

Forum to Discuss Sit-Down Strike

"The General Motors Sit-Down Strike" will be the subject of the Forum of Political and Economic Education when it meets tonight night at eight o'clock in the junior college. Fred McCandless, former president of El Camino Toastmasters club, is to present both sides of the topic.

SCHOOLS ASK TO RECOVER FLU LOSS

Will Apply for Fund From State to Make Up for Absence

Santa Ana city schools will seek to recover part of the money stolen from them by the flu and cold germs during the past few weeks.

This announcement was made today by Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Henderson, who said the schools here will seek to recover part of the loss suffered from drop in daily attendance during epidemic of flu and bad colds.

$100,000 Loss

Already the influenza and cold epidemic has cost Orange county schools more than $100,000, it was estimated in figures secured from County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson.

Adkinson notified school districts throughout the county that they can apply for emergency daily attendance aid from the state, which may offset part of the loss. The loss is caused from reduction in state aid because of lowered average daily attendance.

One-Fifth Absent

A special ruling from the state now makes it possible for districts afflicted with epidemics to apply for aid on attendance figures based on an average for the past three years. It was estimated that the loss in average daily attendance in Orange county has been 20 per cent or more.

However, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, said today that indications are that the epidemic of influenza is breaking. There were 136 cases reported by doctors last Friday, 91 Saturday and but 42 yesterday.

Begin Work on Magazine Project

A new Orange county WPA project got under way here yesterday in a preliminary manner when Fred P. Jayne, head of the PTWW division of WPA, issued an appeal for magazines and publications.

The periodicals are wanted by the WPA for use in a new project which will employ a large group of women. The idea is to classify articles on a given subject, and then bind them together in book form so they will be available for libraries and schools.

Persons who have magazines they can donate were asked to contact Jayne in the PWA offices here.

Beauty Expert To Talk Here

Jean Ferrell, internationally known beauty and health authority with offices in London and the United States, will speak at the Chicago College of Beauty at 514 North Main street Wednesday at 2 p. m.

Erma Brown McClelland, owner of the school, said free facials will be given Wednesday afternoon under supervision of this authority.

Air Corps Unit To Meet Thursday

The third wing of the McLaglen air corps, organized recently at the Orange county airport, will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Rossmore cafe, according to R. C. Service, acting adjutant.

Several army reserve officers have been invited. Rodney Bacon, district manager of the Edison company here and chairman of the chamber of commerce aviation committee, will be present. Capt. R. A. Cheverton, commanding officer, will preside.

Science Lecture On Radio Friday

Local radio listeners may hear authorized Christian Science lectures by William D. Kilpatrick, C. S. B., of Detroit, Mich., a member of the board of lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., as follows:

Friday, Feb. 5, at 12:10 p. m. over KECA; Monday, Feb. 15, at 8 p. m., over KFOX.

Third Son Born To Josef Hofmann

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—A son was born yesterday to Mrs. Josef Hofmann, wife of the famous pianist.

The child will be named Peter Hofmann. Mrs. Hofmann is the former Betty Short, concert pianist. She was married to Hofmann, director of the Curtis Institute of Music, in 1924. They have two other children, Anton, 11, and Edward, 6.

Harlow Wasn't Disappointed

Jean Harlow thought Senator Reynolds of North Carolina was just fooling when he offered to kiss her for the benefit of photographers when she arrived in Washington to attend the President's birthday ball. "The trouble with this gentleman," she said, "is that he doesn't seem to want to go through with it." But this picture shows the senator did "go through with it." (Associated Press Photo)

ONION ACTS AS BAROMETER

Helps Chinese Weatherman

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—An onion, by any other name, is still a meteorological instrument to Tom Yuen, Chinese film actor.

Tom, born in the Orient nearly 80 years ago, boasts of recent successes as an amateur weather forecaster. His secret, he says, lies in using onions for a barometer.

"You cut onion top," he explains, "if cut part spread open, that means it open to drink in rain that's coming. If cut part closes, that means sunshine coming, and it closes up to keep in water it has."

Rose petals, he says, fold in anticipation of a storm.

When Tom was playing the banker in "The Good Earth," he offered daily predictions on what the weather would be on outdoor locations. Usually, studio attaches said, he was correct.

RAISE RATES ON SHORT LOANS

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Officials of the federal reserve board yesterday forecast a stiffening of short-term money rates in the wake of the board's order "freezing" about $1,500,000,000 of idle bank funds.

They said these rates, which have been at unprecendented low levels, could rise considerably without conflicting with the board's "easy money" policy.

There is an abnormal spread between short and long term rates at present. The board, exercising its maximum authority, on Saturday ordered a 33⅓ per cent increase in deposit reserve requirements in an attempt to narrow this spread.

Government Will Help Citrus Men

Financial assistance from a new source loomed today for citrus growers who suffered losses in the recent freeze.

Bruce McDaniel, Mutual Orange Distributor manager, said he has received a telegram assuring him that the rural resettlement branch of the government will make an immediate survey and grants to small growers in distress and emergency crop and feed section loans will be made needy growers.

As reported exclusively in The Journal last week, all financial institutions operating in Orange county for agriculturists have announced a desire to extend all possible assistance to grower who need help. Banks have promised all possible cooperation in extending loans. Federal land bank officials visiting here promised to extend repayments where necessary.

Trial Under Way Over Ranch Title

Postponed several times in the past six weeks, the dispute of Katherine G. Stewart and W. A. Rice over ownership of a Santa Ana canyon ranch was brought to trial yesterday before Superior Judge L. Allen.

Mrs. Stewart brought the original action, contending she is owner, and asked that Rice's claims be set aside. Rice, however, replied in a cross-complaint that the property is rightly his under a judgment given him in 1927 against H. M. Stoner and Elizabeth Stoner, former owners of the land.

A trust deed the Stoners gave Jonathan Watson in 1923 was fraudulent and given to prevent his foreclosure, Rice claimed.

ELAINE STARTS STAGE CAREER

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Elaine Jacobs Barrie Barrymore, the erstwhile "Ariel" of actor John Barrymore's affections, launched her stage career here last night determined on one thing — "no more marriages."

Miss Barrie, as she is billed for the part of the "last woman" in the play "The Return of Hannibal," declared she wanted "no alimony and no marriages."

Referring to her 53-day marriage to Barrymore, the 21-year-old budding actress said:

"He was very difficult to manage."

She declared she wanted him only to pay the costs of her pending divorce suit, nothing after that.

Uncle Sam Will Become Landlord

Home Owners Loan corporation was well on its way today toward making Uncle Sam an important local landlord.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel on Saturday granted the governmental lending agency foreclosures on two pieces of property, in actions brought against Leo Borchard and Jacob S. P. Johnson.

Ridley C. Smith, local attorney, was named commissioner to sell the property to meet judgments of $15,546.43 against Borchard and $2462.71 against Johnson.

APPROVAL IS GIVEN FOUR PROJECTS

Sewer and Storm Drain Plans Are Sent to State Body

Santa Ana may undertake projects costing $880,000 during the next six years.

Last night the city council approved four more big projects which will be among those sent to the state planning commission for inclusion in the national resources committee outline of contemplated public works program for the next six years.

Councilman Joseph P. Smith submitted the projects to the council, which turned them over to the planning commission.

Sewer Repair

One of the projects is for work on section No. 1 of the outfall sewer, costing $120,000, of which $54,000 would be the cost to the city if the project is undertaken.

Another tentative project is for a collection system on the sewer system, costing a total of $60,000, of which $27,000 would be the city's cost.

The third project recommended was for a storm drain and flood control project in the southern part of the city which would be operated in connection with county assistance. Total cost of this project would be $400,000, of which the sponsor's share would be $180,000.

Other Projects

The fourth project considered was for improvement work on the ocean section of the outfall sewer system. This project would cost a total of $100,000, of which the city's share would be $45,000.

Several other works projects were acted upon by the city council last night. One of them was an order authorizing start on Feb. 11 of a project to complete the city Santiago park work in the section between Main and Santiago streets, recommended by City Engineer J. L. McBride. Councilman Smith voted no on the proposal.

Another project the mayor and auditor were authorized to sign was to continue Santiago park project work between Main and Santa Ana boulevard. Because of the increase in pay for WPA workers made before the project was completed, the city will put up $600 in additional money. The government will spend $6849 more on the project.

Push Storm Drain

Mayor Fred Rowland and Auditor Lloyd Banks also were authorized to sign a project for continuation of work on the Seventeenth street storm drain for submission to the WPA. The project will cost the federal government $35,000 and the city $20,000.

The city accepted a deed to an acre of land from the county, which will be included in the Santiago park system between the Santa Ana boulevard bridge and the Main street bridge.

Councilman Smith wanted to know what the city planned to do with the land, and whether it would mean an additional expense to the city. He voted no on the acceptance of the deed.

Joseph Auslander and Audrey Wurdemann Bring Afternoon of Poetry to Ebell

Poetic Credo Given by Pair

Reception and Tea for Talented Visitors Follows Program

Poetry writing is laying a trap of words in the hope that a poem splashed with moonlight will enter, in the words of the poet, Joseph Auslander, who brought this message of beauty and the "poetic credo" to Santa Ana Ebell members yesterday at their meeting presided over by Mrs. F. C. Rowland in their clubhouse.

That "poems splashed with moonlight" have been caught in the finely wrought traps set by Auslander since he started out on his "adventure" of writing poetry was shown clearly to those who had the pleasure yesterday of hearing him read some of his verses . . . for only the splash of moonlight could have inspired a man to think such thoughts as these:

"Broken pieces of laughter on a spring evening;" "Let rain sink in your brain, let dew seep silver through," and his resenting the habit of lumping all kinds of rain together and saying just "rain."

Rain, to Joseph Auslander, who lectures on poetry at Columbia university, is of as many kinds as there are kinds of people. He has seen the kind of rain that walks on tiptoe like a dancer; another kind that "swaggers like a drunken bully, lurching against lamp posts and banging against doors; still another that goes all hush, like a young girl, going to her first communion.

Inspired by Lowell

To the late Amy Lowell, this poet of the rain and other things he knew owes his finding himself in poetry, for it is from the day of her "dreadful" visit to the Harvard Poetry society, of which he was a member—when she came in "under her own steam, preceded by a big, black cigar"—that he dates his true understanding of poetry writing.

Her words to him, in that voice "like frozen vinegar with an edge," when, after having "beheaded" all his fellow club members, she proceeded to behead him for writing about a skylark, a bird he had never seen, gave him his first real definition of poetry.

From that moment, he told Ebell members yesterday, "I have been aware definitely and forever that the only poetry I could call my own was the poetry that passed through me. I have to write out of my own insides, out of the fire in my belly, not through a library window. I have to write my truth, even though it be a meager truth."

Amy Lowell, his inspiration in this "poetic faith," he considers a great person, a remarkable woman, but not a great poet. She was, he believes, the greatest force for poetry in America since Walt Whitman. Whitman made poetry important; Amy made it respectable, sold it to the people, created an audience for poetry, and made people poetry conscious.

Among his own poems read during his most charmingly presented talk were "The Skylark," which he considers his dedication to poetry; "Pearl Maker," "Beware a Halo," "Rain," and "The Trees and the Intruders."

Miss Wurdemann Reads

After his talk, he presented his wife, Audrey Wurdemann, great granddaughter of the poet, Shelly, and a talented poetess in her own right. Miss Wurdemann is the youngest poet ever to have received the Pultizer prize, and the first to have received it for a first book of poems.

In her deep, resonant voice, this dark and lovely dreamer of dreams read some of her lovely lyrics, several of which she had written in Southern California. Among those chosen for yesterdays program were "Spring Song," "Lake Elsinore," "New Moon," "Heart," "Being Born," and upon request "The Grace of Gold."

As a parting thought, Joseph Auslander left with his hearers his "credo" that "winged horse sense is more important than horse sense."

Tea Follows Program

After their program, the poet pair were honored at a lovely tea and reception planned by Mrs. Aldric Worswick, chairman, and the members of the club poetry section, Mrs. Worswick and Mrs. Edith Cloyes receiving at the door.

Presiding at either end of the lace spread tea table, which was centered with an arrangement of silvered fir boughs and gilded pine cones, and white tapers in silver candelabra, were Mrs. John Tessmann and Mrs. Robert Northcross. Mrs. Alan Revill and Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch assisted in serving the tea and dainty refreshments.

During the brief business session, Mrs. Rowland, who was welcomed back after a siege of influenza, announced the next meeting of the club for the evening of February 22, when Mrs. Jack Vallely will bring another of her interesting reviews of current events and books. Husbands will be welcomed at this meeting, she stated. The literary section will serve refreshments and preside over a social hour at the close.

Mrs. Rowland also announced the county board meeting next Monday in Brea; Miss Betty Smith announced the Junior Ebell fashion tea March 20, to raise money for the scholarship fund; and Mrs. Rowland introduced Miss LaVonne Frandson, new president of Girls' Ebell., Attorney Z. B. West, a visitor, announced the D. A. V. military ball which will be February 23 in the Valencia ballroom.

Your Baby Book

By BETTY COX

Where do you suppose we found most of our young Baby Book friends early this morning, long before the sun was up?

You'd never guess, so we'll tell you. We found them all crouched around what looked like a rabbit hole, but what was really a ground-hog hole, waiting for Mr. Ground Hog to poke out his nose for a look at the weather.

And most of them were just the tiniest bit disappointed when the first sign of his nose above the ground cast a shadow and old Groundhoggy slipped hurriedly back down to his warm bed for six more weeks of his winter snooze.

For Santa Ana's little boys and girls, like its bigger ones, are slightly bored with all the cold weather we have been having, and would have liked to have Mr. Ground Hog come out prepared for an early spring.

Of course it has been fun watching the rain, and those few beautiful hailstorms, and for some of us a trip to real snow, but we've had enough of that now and we're in a hurry for the season of Easter bunnies, organdy bonnets, and fun at the beach.

* * *

Today we have some more very charming little people to introduce to you, and we are going to start by two's—first two little cousins whose birthdays are less than a week apart, and then a pair of little twin sisters who can scarcely be told apart, and who seldom are seen apart.

Mary and Eddie West are the cousins, Mary the very lovely little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin G. West, and Eddie the handsome young son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund West.

Mary is less than a week younger than Eddie, her birthday falling on Feb. 21, when she will be one year old. Like a big wax doll, and such a pretty doll, is this little girl with her dark hair and blue eyes and her rosy English complexion no doubt inherited from her English mother.

"Pretty is as pretty does," my grandmother used to tell me, and this applies in Mary's case, for her disposition, we are told (by others than her own family), is as adorable as her face.

She patty-cakes and laughs, and says things that sound like "mama" and "dada."

* * *

Just as Mary is all girl, so her cousin Eddie is just all boy. They get along together pretty well, not paying over much attention to each other except when one gets something the other wants.

Mary, with her dark hair, has the blue eyes that usually belong to a blonde; and Eddie, with light hair, has big brown eyes that enhance rather than belie his fairness.

Eddie is a big baby and a fine athlete. Though not quiet a year old, he is already trying to walk, and can take two or three steps between two pieces of furniture.

He and his cousin both weigh close to 25 pounds, but Eddie plans to keep his weight down with the ballplaying in which he excels.

Eddie had the flu and even pneumonia, but he's all right again now and is looking forward to next summer when he can go with his mother up to Granddaddy's cabin at Descanso in the San Diego mountains, where he spent six weeks last summer. Eddie's birthday is on the 18th of February.

* * *

Our little twin friends are Jeanne and Joanne Ellwanger, those sparkling-eyed daughters of the Jack Ellwangers of Riverside drive, who are among the few identical twins of Santa Ana.

Five years old on Nov. 20, Jeanne and Joanne have dark curly hair and dark, snappy eyes, and they do everything in the same way at the same time. One can't even be sick without the other one immediately developing the same symptoms.

Flu was the latest, and both of them came pretty close to pneumonia, but they are on the road to recovery now—on the same road with their dad and mother, for all have been sick at the same time.

There is just one way to tell these sisters apart—Joanne has deeper dimples than Jeanne. Jeanne has dimples too, of course, but she has to smile harder to show them.

They are going to be pretty little dancers, from all promise, and have recently become Meglin Kiddies, Jeanne excelling in acrobatics and her be-dimped sister in tap dancing.

Their hobbies, aside from dancing, are their dollies and their tricycles.

* * *

A busy "little mother" is four-year-old Margaret Walker, dark-haired little daughter of the George Walkers, who every night bathes and puts her family of dolls to bed and each morning bathes them again, dresses them, and washes out their clothes.

With a complete washing machine outfit for her doll clothes, Margaret finds her work easy and delightful, and keeps very busy all the while her mother is working around the house.

Dolls are her favorite pastime, but the outdoors, too, has its lure for Margaret, for out there she has her trike and her favorite playmate, "Fooey," a red chow almost as big as she is. "Fooey," by the way, is short for Fu Manchu, the name given to "Fooey" by Bob and Betty Guild.

Margaret and "Fooey" are almost inseparable, and wherever you see her little dark Dutch bob bobbing along you're apt to see the bright red tail of her chow-dog skipping along behind.

Margaret has the blackest of eyes to go with her shiny dark hair. Her birthday? The eighth of September.

* * *

Dickie Taylor, aged two and one-half (approximately) — anyway, he'll be three on June 25, went exploring the other day, and had almost reached the school where brother Jack goes to kindergarten when his mother found him.

Dickie thought it was fun to go down the car tracks and was going to be to surprise Jack, but mother thought otherwise, and Dick is staying at home again these days.

This new little friend in our Baby Book has the most beautiful blond curly head and big blue eyes, and he adores his big brother, who was five on Nov. 17 and who goes to school now at Roosevelt.

Both the boys are enthralled at present with the intricacies of the new electric train which has been their's since Christmas.

* * *

Marilyn Meisinger, who will be a year old on April 3, is the pretty little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Meisinger, and a very good friend of the Dionne quintuplets—in their picture.

She's never seen them in real life, but the picture of them on her bedroom wall is her chief delight and joy, and she loves to stand up on her bed and pat "the babies."

Marilyn walks around her play pen, still with the aid of the pen walls, but she will soon not need their help, for she knows pretty well what walking is all about. Her vocabulary is limited to "Dada" and similar words, and her world is bounded by her own home and her yard, where she finds plenty of things to occupy her waking hours.

Marilyn is going to have brown eyes, and her hair is a pretty light brown. She weighs 19 pounds, which is just about right for her 10 months.

* * *

Fluffy, a little wire-hair terrier, gets a lot of fun out of life, for isn't he Jimmie White's special playmate?

Jimmie, small son of the J. Thoburn Whites, will be three years old on May 16, and his real name is James Thoburn White, jr.

Blond or brunette? Well, he's just in between. Used to be very light, but his hair is getting darker as he gets bigger.

Hobby? Helping Daddy — and playing with Fluffy. Jimmie likes traveling in the automobile, too, and often goes down to San Diego to visit his mother's family.

Chief ambition in life? To have some boots like Daddy's for working on the ranch.

* * *

Does liking to play with old medicine bottles signify that you are going to be a doctor? If so, little Leese McDaniel, not quite two, will surely be one, for, next to his toy wagon, he finds most of his fun and pleasure in these fascinating glass things with funny labels.

Leese is the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDaniel, jr., and his birthday is on April 1—which, he'll have you know, is a pretty fine birthday, too.

Blond and blue-eyed, Leese looks like both his mother and his dad. He's learning to put words together now into real sentences with verbs and subjects, his latest being "I want a drink of water."

As to traveling, Leese still thinks home is the best place of all, and doesn't hanker after seeing the world yet.

Chinese Food On Business Club Menu

That the walls of China are among the greatest hindrances to unity within the country and to normal international relations with other countries was brought out in the interesting talk which Mrs. C. S. Smith, a recent traveler to the Orient, gave last night before the Business and Professional Women's club at a meeting at the Doris Kathryn tearoom.

With the great wall around China, she pointed out, and with each city walled and each home walled, there can be no sense of unity, and it will take some great movement to bring this about.

The Chinese people, she said, deal with the mind instead of with material things.

As a piece of advice to prospective travelers, the speaker warned them to beware of eating in Chinese restaurants, on account of the prevalence of diseases.

A taste of the Orient greeted the club members when they found their tables decorated with miniature Chinese houses, tiny animals, gay lanterns and doilies, all combining to make a purely Oriental setting for the dinner which started with nuts, rice cakes, preserved ginger and tea.

Starting with the dessert, the group ate noodles, chop suey, bean sprouts, cabbage and steamed bread; and for the third course, soup.

During the business meeting, presided over by Miss Lena Thomas, the state convention to be held May 7, 8 and 9 at Del Monte was announced; and Miss Genevieve Humiston announced the card benefit party which Wrycende Maegdenu are staging this evening. Mary Thompson, one of the club members, was reported ill.

There was some discussion of the question of whether a new junior college plant was needed here, and one opinion was that more room was needed and that if it is to be known as Santa Ana Junior college it should be located in Santa Ana.

Mrs. Edith Thatcher called attention to the adult education classes, and passed bulletins to the members. The club voted to contribute $25 to the Red Cross fund for flood sufferers.

A board meeting was announced for Friday evening at the home of Miss Thomas.

The international relations committee, of which Mrs. Thatcher is chairman, presented the program and will be in charge this month. On this committee with Mrs. Thatcher are Vanche Plumb, Susan Rutherford, Ethel Lockwood and Winifred Eyman.

State Clubs Head Coming To County

Only on rare occasions does a county federation have the honor of entertaining the president of the California Federation of Women's clubs as its guest at one of its meetings.

One of these rare occasions will be next Monday's meeting of Orange County federation, call for which has been issued by Mrs. Archibald Edwards, president of the county group.

The meeting is to be held in the Brea Congregational church, corner of Imperial and Flower streets, in Brea, starting at 10 o'clock in the morning with a business session of the executive board.

Speaker of the day will be Mrs. John P. Thille, state chairman of gardens, from Santa Paula.

The luncheon, reservations for which are being received by Mrs. R. M. Fleisher, 335 South Flower street, Brea (Phone Brea 195), and the afternoon program are to be held in the new clubhouse of Brea Woman's club.

Every clubwoman in the county is cordially invited to attend the afternoon session to honor Mrs. W. D. Jones, the state president, who will be paying the official visit of her two-year administration to Orange county. Mrs. James will speak at 2 p. m., and Brea club will provide a musical program, according to word from Mrs. S. W. Douglas, corresponding secretary of the county federation.

FORMER SANTA ANANNE BRIDE OF SANTA ANAN

A former Santa Ana girl chose Santa Ana's Wedding chapel as the setting for her wedding Sunday afternoon when, at 3 o'clock, she was united in marriage with Wilbur Buck of this city.

The bride was Miss Mildred Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Rogers of Riverside, former Santa Ana residents. Wearing a blue tailored suit with matching accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses, she exchanged her vows with Mr. Buck in the presence of Dr. Frank E. Lindgren, minister of Calvary church.

Miss Norma Buck attended as maid of honor, wearing a suit of Oxford grey with gardenias and black accessories, and played the wedding marches at the piano and accompanied Miss Elizabeth Heckman of the same city in two wedding solos. After the ceremony, there was a reception at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Henry Rogers, in Orange, for the relatives and friends who attended the wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Anaheim High school and of the Orange County hospital nurses' training school. Mr. Buck attended and was graduated from Huntington Beach High school. He is now employed by the George Dunton Ford agency here.

The newlyweds have postponed their trip until later and are now at home at 1312 West Central avenue, Balboa Beach.

ALTAR SOCIETY

St. Joseph's Altar society will have its next regular meeting February 11 at 2 o'clock in the Knights of Columbus hall. Three reels of film will make up the program following a business session, two on the Redwood Empire and one showing the San Francisco bridge.

MARY STODDARD

Girl Who Hounded Hero Into Wedlock Confused and Wants Advice

By MARY STODDARD

Much is being said and written about "the new relationship of the sexes." Don't deceive yourself, girls, or let others deceive you. Men know there is no such thing. The relationship between male and female as regards marriage is as old as the hills. It may be disguised in a new garb to suit the stylists of various eras, but deep down underneath all the blurb and blah of faddists it remains unchanged.

Man by his very nature is the hunter, the pursuer. When women try to turn the tables and assume the role of a modern Diana they're almost invariably disillusioned and disappointed if they are unlucky enough to "land their man."

Consider the case of the young wife who records her dilemma in the letter which follows:

Dear Miss Stoddard: When I was 18 I married a boy 19. Of course we were too young to realize what a marriage bargain was. One thing led to another and after two-and-one-half years of, I guess you would say, just living together and waiting for one another to make the first move, we separated. I got a divorce the next year and got myself a good position.

After enjoying single life for a year I met a man seven years my senior. He liked me very much and gave me a big rush. Of course the first thing a girl thinks of is getting married, and I, like the rest, began hinting around, but he never seemed to follow me, when I brought the subject up, as I hoped he would. Well, to be truthful, I believe I pushed the issue until really all he could do was give me a ring and set the date. Of course that was what I wanted and I was happy as a lark. From the day of our engagement he started to act odd. In fact he wanted to break it up three times before we were married. But somehow I always talked him out of it, not realizing the great harm I was doing to both of us. It seemed to me if I lost him life wouldn't be worth living.

Well, to make a long story a wee bit shorter—we finally got married. We had a nice wedding with all the trimmings. Went on a honeymoon and came back to a smart apartment. As soon as we were settled it seemed, those spells of indifference came back. On the way home from work at night he wouldn't utter a word. This would go on for three or four days sometimes, then apparently he'd get over it and be his normal self.

Well, this kept up for eight months until I was losing weight from worrying over his actions. I loved him so much the thought of leaving him never entered my head until one day I came home from work tired. He said he was tired of eating out of cans all the time and was going to his mother's for a decent meal. Well, that was the last straw.

So the next morning I told him I'd send a dray for my things as soon as I was settled.

He didn't seem to mind much. All he said was, "Ann, some day you'll be sorry." But after I had been gone three days, he found out where I was staying and came after me.

This time I thought he might snap out of it and then, too, if I went on as if nothing were wrong he might forget those spells of his. When I plead with him to please be different, he gets mad and says I am always reminding him of it and that he knows how to act without someone telling him.

Shall I go away some place where he can't persuade me to come back? Or shall I go on this way, forever hoping he'll change?

Hoping you can find space for this so some of your readers who may have the answer to this same problem will pass the answer on to me. Thanking you in advance, I am. TWICE WEDDED.

Minnesotans Have Two Picnics

Two groups of former Minnesotans gathered over this weekend for picnic reunions, people from Martin county one hundred strong to Birch park in Santa Ana, and former Northfield, Minn., neighbors coming together at Anaheim park.

Present at this latter gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, Newport Beach; Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Haber, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Schleif, Mrs. Ellen Talan, all of Santa Ana; Mrs. Eloise Jones, Anaheim; Miss Mary Bogue, Mrs. Maud McGarry, Mrs. Roy Riddill, Mrs. Frances Sorenson, and Mrs. Ana Dilley, Orange.

Lincoln Fey and Elliott and Clara Watson, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Chamberlain, Loma Linda; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Crump and children, Santa Ana; Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain, Klamath Falls, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Iva Coats, Baldwin Park; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coats, Pomona, and Gordon Wilson, Santa Ana.

Picnic lunches, visiting, and an informal good time were enjoyed by the group.

One hundred former residents of Martin county, Minn., including Orange countians, Los Angeles countians, San Diegans, and one family from Riverside, as well as several tourists just visiting in California from the home state, participated in the informal day, bringing basket lunches and delighting in the warm sunshine of Birch park.

Judge John G. Mitchell presided as master of ceremonies, making among other announcements that of the Minnesota state picnic which is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 20, in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.

NORTHWEST AID SECTION FRIDAY

Northwest section of the First Presbyterian Ladies' Aid society will meet at 2 p. m. Friday at the home of Mrs. R. P. Yeagle, 2318 Bonnie Brae, and will hear a travel talk that afternoon by John McBride who made a trip to the South Seas with the noted Captain Lewis. He will give an account of that journey.

Members are reminded to bring their dues for the past year to this meeting.

V. F. W. SEWING CLUB

Sewing club of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary enjoyed a day of work and fellowship last Friday when 10 members met at the home of Mrs. James Sullivan on Orange avenue to sew for the soldiers in the Sawtelle hospital. James Sullivan, who is commander of the V. F. W. post, and George Herbert, the adjutant, joined the ladies for luncheon.

Star Officer Group Is Honored

Newly installed officers of Hermosa chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star had their first social get-together Saturday evening when their new worthy matron, Mrs. Wilford G. Lewis, and Mr. Lewis presided as hosts at a dessert bridge in their home at 1916 North Flower street.

Officers, committee members and trailers were included among the guests, and the hostess was assisted in her duties by Mrs. Harriet Nelson, Mrs. Dolly Pope, and Mrs. Helen Merker.

Most of the evening was spent at the bridge tables, and when scores were tallied at the close of the playing high prizes were presented to Miss Henrietta Bohling and Wilbur Goodrich, high, and to Mrs. Goodrich and Walter Berry, low.

Those enjoying the delightful evening arranged by the Lewises were the Messrs. and Mesdames Harold E. Nelson, Cyrus Merker, Fred Pope, Roy Seaver, Walter Berry, Don Hildreth, Robert Birkhead, Charles Soper, and John Swanke; Mesdames Nell D. Winslow, Etta D. Sweet, Edith Hancock, Fred Perryman, and Ella Strassberger, and the Misses Mame Y. Havens and Henrietta Bohling.

C. A. HOLLOWAY IS HONORED

Mrs. C. A. Holloway and daughter, Lois, planned a pleasant birthday dinner courtesy for Mr. Holloway, their husband and father, on Sunday at their home at 2027 Cypress street.

Mr. Holloway's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holloway, and children of Westminster, with whom Miss Lois makes her home, were among the guests; and Mrs. Eunice Wilson and Floyd Holloway, daughter and son of the Henry Holloways, also joined them for dinner, all showering the guest of honor with birthday gifts. The delicious meal concluded with a huge white birthday cake.

In the afternoon, another daughter of the Westminster brother, Mrs. Fern Bloomer, and her two sons, Frank and Jimmie, and their cousin, Marilyn, all of Costa Mesa, arrived to wish their uncle many happy returns of the day.

ALL INVITED TO TURKEY DINNER

General Aid society of the First Presbyterian church met at the church Thursday for a business session and program presided over by Mrs. E. C. Hunter, in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. J. Beckman. Mrs. L. E. Barry led devotionals.

Plans were completed for the turkey dinner which the aid will sponsor tomorrow night from 5 to 8 o'clock at the church, and to which the public is invited.

KVOE OFFERS BROADCASTS OF FLOOD

Word Pictures, Appeals for Funds Heard on Mutual Network

The Mutual Broadcasting system and KVOE are cooperating to the fullest extent with the American Red Cross in presenting word pictures, eye-witness accounts, appeals, and benefit performances for the aid of flood sufferers in all parts of the country. Broadcasts released by KVOE have been presented from the stricken areas in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and also from national Red Cross headquarters in Washington.

Since Saturday, Jan. 23, when Ernest J. Swift, vice-chairman of the national Red Cross, broadcast an appeal for aid and described conditions in the Ohio valley, the Mutual network, from coast to coast, has disrupted commercial schedules continuously, to devote seven hours and fifty minutes of broadcast time to Red Cross appeals from Washington, and vivid descriptions from affiliate station WLW in Cincinnati.

To Mutual, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the American Red Cross, sent this wire: "Greatly appreciate splendid cooperation Mutual Broadcasting system giving us in present emergency stop Hope you can continue flood relief fund appeals."

The mutual network intends to disrupt planned program schedules with emergency broadcasts until the floods have subsided.

Ed Lowry Has Pet Heckler

The first raido showman to "tolerate" a heckler in his audience, Ed Lowry promises to "carry on" with another thirty minutes of his entertaining "Sing Time," broadcast by KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system from 6:15 to 6:45 o'clock this evening.

The disturbing element which provides a bit of fun for both dialers and those who personally participate in the program broadcast from Hollywood's Filmarte Theater is, of course, none other than Harry Savoy, a veteran of vaudeville who has now scored a hit on radio.

Guest Star Is Back Tonight

For the first time since the feature was inaugurated in the East and Mid-West, two years ago, a guest star will make a return appearance on the "Listen to This" program to be broadcast by KVOE from 5:30 to 6:00 o'clock this evening.

The "deserving guest" in question is Rowena Williams, popular vocalist, who made such a hit upon her appearance early last December that Kay St. Germaine and Jack Brooks, "Johnny and Dotty," asked her to again appear.

Real Mystery Heard in 'Drums'

Author Vera Oldham, relentless perpetrator of difficulties for William Farnum and his supporting cast in "Drums," really out-perpetrates herself in the current episode of the mystery-adventure serial to be heard on KVOE from 6:45 to 7 o'clock tonight.

Home Service

Make These Smart Curtains at Home

The living-room looking a little dingy these wintry days? Give it fresh draperies, inexpensive, easy to make.

Here is something new, combining plain-colored side draperies with striped valance. Beige with rust-red stripes, or apple green with bottle-green stripes, or any color scheme that ties up with your room.

If rayon moire is chosen for draperies, striped rayon taffeta is correct for the valance. Heavy cotton crash or rep draperies call for a cotton valance—perhaps one of the delightful striped tickings shown in warm soft colorings.

Line draperies and valance with sateen. Drape valance; tack it to valance board screwed shelfwise to top of window trim.

Our 32-page booklet gives diagrammed directions for valances and draperies. Easy-to-follow instructions for draping, lining, pleating. Hints on selecting appropriate materials and styles for all types of rooms.

Send 10c for your copy of "How to Make Curtains and Draperies" to The Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

'Modulations From KVOE'

"How to Get What You Want" is the intriguing topic of tonight's interesting broadcast by Frances Furr, teacher of psychology and metaphysics, on KVOE at 9:15. She is heard every Tuesday night at that hour.

* * *

How and why plant quarantine laws protect California agriculture will be explained in a summary to be broadcast by A. C. Fleury, chief of the Bureau of Plant Quarantine, California State Department of Agriculture, from KVOE tomorrow afternoon at 12:15.

* * *

"Our Constitution: Adequate or in Need of Revision?" This question will be discussed, pro and con by Audrey Barnes, Jack Hutton and Lester Carden, Santa Ana J. C students, during tomorrow morning's Orange county Junior Forum broadcast from KVOE at 11:15, the second in the series of such broadcasts scheduled Wednesday at the same hour in which a large number of Orange county schools will take part.

* * *

Since his new series began over the Mutual-Don Lee network a few weeks ago, Tony D'Orazi, "The Cartoon Man," has been broadcasting from the studios of KGB, San Diego. Reason: The gifted young artist is acting as master-of-ceremonies at one of the better night clubs in the southern city. Tony is heard on KVOE and other Mutual-Don Lee stations Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 5:45 to 6 p. m.

* * *

The daily routine of their "pirate" existence on Jackson Island punctuated by booming cannon, Tom, Huck and Joe finally guess the reason.

"They think we're drowned-ed." Such is the conclusion to which the boys come in the latest episode of "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," to be heard on KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system from 6 to 6:15 tonight.

Newsboy Brings $6 Flood Gift

Kenneth Nielson, who sells The Journal on downtown streets, came into The Journal office today.

"Here's six dollars from the Nielson family for flood relief," he said, turning the money over to his boss, Eugene Long, Journal circulation manager. Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Nielson, 843 West Highland.

The money was turned over to the Red Cross, which is collecting contributions here for flood sufferers.

'Sinfonietta' On KVOE Tonight

"Sinfonietta," a program of delightful music by the all-string orchestra under the baton of Alfred Wallenstein, will be broadcast from KVOE and other stations in the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system from 7 to 7:30 tonight. The half-hour concert follows.

N. D. G. W. THIMBLE CLUB

Native Daughters Thimble club is to have its next meeting and covered dish luncheon this Thursday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Edwards on Clover street, Placentia, members to gather at 12:30 o'clock for the luncheon.

NO EPISCOPAL MEETING

Episcopal Women's Auxiliary has postponed until further notice the meeting scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, it was announced today.

CHILD HEARING RADIO TOPIC

The first of two broadcasts concerning hard of hearing children will be made by Miss Ruth Bartlett, nationally-known instructor of lip reading and a member of the adult education department, Santa Ana city schools, from KVOE tomorrow morning at 10:30.

Miss Bartlett is scheduled for six broadcasts in this new series, two broadcasts to a topic. Other topics will include "Employment for the Hard of Hearing" and "The Hard of Hearing and Scientific Research."

Her talk tomorrow morning will bear particularly upon the differences in degrees of hearing loss and the type of education most suitable.

Movie Director Takes Time Out For Romance

Mal St. Clair, Hollywood movie director, got a big inspiration while working on a Twentieth Century-Fox set yesterday. Dropping everything, he found Margaret Murray Holt and rushed her to Santa Ana. At the courthouse the couple applied for a marriage license.

Then they raced back to Hollywood, and St. Clair resumed work on the set. Both he and his finance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Murray of Pasadena, gave their address as Laguna Beach. They will be married there over the week-end.

The picture on which St. Clair was working when he got his big inspiration is "Time Out for Romance."

'Ariel' Gets Hand In Stage Debut

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Scattered applause greeted Elaine Barrie Barrymore last night as she stepped on the stage for her West coast debut in the fourth scene of the third act of a tragedy in blank verse, "The Return of Hannibal."

But while the "Ariel" who recently left John Barrymore because she felt her career was more important than her husband had received much of the advance publicity on Amory Hare's play, most of the handclapping at the actual performance was reserved for Jerome Lawlee, who made of Hannibal a soldier with dreams, a man of action with doubts.

HERMOSA STAR CHAPTER INITIATES

Hermosa Eastern Star chapter accorded escort honors to a number of distinguished visitors last night at its regular meeting in the Masonic temple, among the honor guests being Lillian Edwards, deputy grand matron.

Others escorted into the room were Betty Gowdy and Courtney Chandler, worthy matron and patron of Santa Ana chapter; Alice Kiehl, matron of Garden Grove chapter; Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hodges, matron and patron of La Habra; Mary Pierpont, Norwalk matron, and Hazel Paquette, Huntington Beach matron. Other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hannah of Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McIntyre of Winnebago, Minn.; Anna M. Smith of Coalinga, and Nellie Hartster of Anaheim.

Initiated into the order last night were Gwendoline Mae Watkins, Dora Millis, Sadie D. Patton, Grace Abbott Sherman and Freda Alma Patterson.

Solos were presented by Clay Williams and Pearl Livesay, both accompanied by Mame Y. Havens; and refreshments were served at the close, with Valentine appointments, by the Mesdames Eleanor Shaw, Evelyn Coutts, Mary Carlson, Catherine Crowe, Florence Crawford, Bessie Conklin, and Messrs. John Shaw, James Tarpley and Leslie Pearson.

Next regular meeting will be a colonial card party on Feb. 15, it was announced.

Red and white candles and holders and refreshments graced the pretty tables.

WOMEN OF STANFORD PLAN PLAY CONTEST

Stanford Women's club made final plans for the one-act play contest which it is sponsoring in the high schools of the county this month when it met last night at the home of Mrs. Alice Whitaker in Fullerton.

A most interesting evening had been planned by the club hostess, starting with a dainty dessert course following which Mrs. Whitaker, who is a teacher of art, talked on "Mayan Civilization and Art."

The play contest is to be held between February 12 and 19, it was announced by Mrs. Edna Dean Condon, Huntington Beach dramatics teacher, who heads the committee, and who is being assisted by Miss Thelma Patton and Mrs. Parley Smith. Winner of the county contest will represent Orange county in the Southern California tournament being sponsored by the Pasadena club, it was stated.

Miss Margaret Swingle of Huntington Beach presided over the meeting, which closed with plans to meet next on March 8 at the home of Mrs. A. Haven Smith in Orange, with the Orange members as hostesses.

METHODIST SOCIETY

Women's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church will meet in the social hall of the church at 2 p. m. tomorrow. A special program is planned, and tea will be served.

Meal Time in Refugee Camp

Hot food was the first need of most persons driven from their homes by flood waters. Some persons marooned by high water were without food for four days. This picture shows refugees at dinner in New Madrid, Mo. (Associated Press Photo)

Rapid Beats Not Always Heart Trouble

By CLAUD CHRISMAN, M. D.

There are some heart troubles that cause the patient as much anxiety as real heart diseases. They are usually various irregularities in the rapidity, force, and rhythm of the heart action.

The trouble is with the innervation of the heart. The rapidity, force and rhythm of a normal heart are controlled from two nerve supplies. One is from the brain and spinal cord, which causes it to beat stronger, more rapidly or more slowly as the need requires.

Then there is a bundle of nerve tissue buried in the muscle wall itself called the "His" bundle, which aids in the control of force and rhythm. Many things influence the heart action. We all know how rapidly and hard the heart pounds when we are frightened, worried or apprehensive. This condition is only temporary and soon subsides. Some of us are inclined to be frightened and worried because we fear it will return and that there is something wrong. This fear continues the disturbance.

Overactivity of certain of the glands of internal secretion causes rapid heart action. Particularly is this true with the thyroid and the adrenal glands. Under-activity of these glands can also cause a decided slowing of the heart action. This nervous heart action continues indefinitely and usually becomes more severe unless the cause is removed.

BARBARA RURUP HOME AGAIN

Miss Barbara Rurup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rurup of 1631 West Washington, has returned to her home here after three months in the Palo Alto hospital, where she has been recuperating from injuries to her back received in an automobile accident on her way to Stanford university last fall.

Miss Rurup arrived alone on the Lark, and was met in Los Angeles Sunday morning by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Erwin. The latter brought her to her home in Santa Ana, where she will continue her convalescence, hoping to go up to the university for the spring term.

CHRISTIAN MISSION GROUP

First Christian church missionary society will hold its regular meeting Wednesday, with a program following election and Bible study period at 12:45 p. m. Speaker will be C. C. Hartzler of Los Angeles, who spent 20 years in Africa as a missionary and who is now home on a furlough. All members and friends are invited to be present.

Refrigerator Pie Is Very Tasty

By JUDITH WILSON

Here is an easy-to-make, extremely delicious mocha pie—or rather, dessert. Because it does not take any baking. And it's one of those tempting, very filling things it's so nice to serve at a dessert-bridge, as well as to your family.

Coffee Whip Pie

To make the crust, roll 1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs until fine. Mix with 3 tablespoons melted butter and ¼ cup walnut meats, chopped fine. Press into a greased 9 inch pie pan and chill while you prepare the filling.

For the filling soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in 1 tablespoon cold water. Dissolve in 1 cup strong, hot coffee. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar to taste and chill until slightly thickened. Beat with a rotary egg beater until fluffy. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla to 1 cup heavy cream and whip until very stiff. Blend with the coffee gelatin and turn into the crumb crust. Chill for 5 hours or until filling is firm. Garnish with additional whipped cream and nutmeats.

Two zebras strolled into Durban, Natal, wandered down the crowded streets and leisurely strolled back to the open.

Do Your Hair According To Your Face

By JACQUELINE HUNT

In selecting a new hair style, first study the way your hair grows naturally and then the shape of your face. You do not want a style that looks lovely when you leave the hairdresser's, then freakish after you have slept on it one night. You want one that will keep—one that follows the natural lines of your head and the direction of the natural curl.

Now study the shape of your face. If your forehead is very high, part the hair on one side and have a few soft curls that drop forward.

If your face is too round, a high side part with some of the hair pulled forward in front of the ears will give it a more siender appearance. In this case, have the hair quite short and swirled or have the ringlets sculptured over the ears or too fluffy curls around your neckline.

Another nice style for the round face is to have the hair parted on each side and the top section shortened and thinned, then curled softly on top of your head. The hair at the sides is brushed backward and waves softly over the ears, then turned back and up into little smooth curls that hug the back of your head. The crown in this coiffure is smooth and unwaved.

TUXES AND FORMAL GOWNS TO STEP OUT

The date: Saturday, February 6, 1937.

The time: Dinner at 7:30, dancing promptly at 9:30. Anyone not seated by 8 p. m. positively will not be served.

The place: Santa Ana Country club.

Guests: Out-of-town, or prospective members, only, and, due to limited space, only one couple per member for dinner.

Reservations: Must be received, with money, not later than Thursday, February 4, with Hume West, 219½ Buffalo avenue, Santa Ana.

That's the invitation which Tux 'n Gown club members received this week, containing all the information regarding the eagerly anticipated dinner dance which will be this Saturday night at the country club.

A new board of directors is to be chosen at that time, and the board now in office will be host for the evening. Tuxes and formal gowns will be the order of the evening, as in all except the summer dances of the club. This is the fourth dance of the second annual series of dances since organization of Tux 'n Gown club.

VETERAN REBEKAHS

Veteran Rebekah association will meet Friday at the I. O. O. F. hall for an all-day meeting and dinner at 12 noon.

The Early Bird Gets the Worm

If He Knows Where to Look!

Watch a robin on the lawn some sunshiny morning. A few hops, then a pause. A few more hops, and he listens again. Then, triumphant, he pulls out a fat, wriggling worm.

A silly bird, you would say, if he merely pecked here and there, hoping to strike it lucky.

Reading the advertisements is for you what cocking his head is for the robin. Advertisers tell you just where are the juiciest buys.

Cock your eye on the advertisements in The Journal. They may save pecking on barren ground.

Shaded Lilacs "Spread" Loveliness

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Flower Clusters in Lazy Daisy Stitch and French Knots

PATTERN 5786

What matter if you've no real flowers for your room when these shaded lilac clusters so ably take their place! See how effectively the motif centers on your spread! The bolster's more decorative too, for that extra cluster and the butterflies that you could also use on matching scarfs. You'll love embroidering the lilacs in lazy-daisy stitch and French knots in outline, running and single stitch completing the motif. Two shades of lavender with a touch of yellow set off by green leaves and you have a lovely decoration. In pattern 5786 you will find a transfer pattern of one large spray 19½ x 22¾ inches; one and one reverse butterfly 3½ x 4¾ inches; one spray 5¼ x 6 inches and two butterflys 2 x 3¼ inches; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address and Pattern Number.

Flood Would Catch Us Unprepared

YOU DON'T have to be an alarmist to realize that the weather conditions of the past month have hung a mighty flood danger over the rich Santa Ana valley.

High in the inland mountains lie millions of tons of water in the form of snow.

This frozen flood has been piling up ever since the heavy storms and freeze started some 30 days ago.

It is now at record proportions.

A sudden thaw—a warm rain—might release it with a roar on the river and streams below.

This is exactly what happened 21 years ago during the 1916 disaster. At that time, torrents rushed down from the mountains, drowning several people and doing damage estimated at $1,800,000 to some 53,000 acres of highly developed ranch land.

Since that time the population of the threatened lowlands has doubled and property values have quadrupled.

Under certain weather conditions, this disaster might repeat in much more violent and destructive form.

A severe flood would inundate cities, destroy roads and railroads, erode or dump sand and cause great loss of life and property.

People back in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys would read about us—like we do about them now—and exclaim, "How horrible!"

If Providence ordains a sudden thaw in our mountains—nothing can be done this year to avert the calamity. We will be caught like rats and have to take it.

But next year—and the years to come—we can harness the swollen streams by getting to work in earnest on the Orange county flood control project.

It's better to be safe than sorry when a river leaps its banks. Remember that on water bond election day.

It is about as silly for the supervisors to pay $500 for a lobbyist to influence the legislature as it would be for the legislature to hire a lobbyist to work on the supervisors.

Insurance and 'Dog Tags'

WITH SOME 26,000,000 persons registered to share in the social security board's plan of enforced savings, it wasn't such a bad idea after all to give everybody a number, or a "dog tag" as it was called during the heat of the recent campaign.

The board reports that there are enrolled some 294,000 persons named Smith, 227,000 Johnsons, 184,000 Browns, 156,000 Williamses, 147,000 Joneses, 137,000 Millers, 123,000 Davises, 115,000 Andersons, 96,000 Wilsons, and 81,000 Taylors. Whew!

It your name happens to be Hootginny Boroslalskow Flipnoodle, however, it might be possible for the security board to keep track of your savings account until you retire at 65 without means of a special identifying number.

But suppose your name is John Smith and you lay bricks for a year in Iowa, then build levees at Cairo, work in a store in Texas, keep books for five years in Phoenix, and so on ad infinitum.

You'd be in a pretty mess, wouldn't you, if after a lifetime of working and looking for work, you should end up at 65 sorting oranges at Santa Ana—and come to find out that the security board had lost track of you.

You'd have a slim chance, wouldn't you, of collecting back all the money that had been deducted from your wages by your many employers for the purpose of caring for you in old age.

Hang on to your number and safeguard your pension.

'Terrors' of Television

NOW THAT television has made its appearance, one young woman is New York complains indignantly that a television Tom peeps at her whenever she takes a bath.

The complaint is similar to the one that was voiced by hundreds of women when the X-ray first came into use. They claimed that men, armed with this diabolic device, would be able to see right through their clothes.

Other inventions bothered people the same way. Engineers recall that many silly complaints were made about telephones, phonographs, the radio and similar devices.

Apparently science advances so rapidly that some people find it hard to keep abreast of it.

Remember the good old days when you could buy five bunches of fresh vegetables for a nickel—if you had the nickel?

Unpublicized Charity

WHEN A MILLION or more people are made homeless by a mighty flood, we can grasp the tragedy of human suffering—and we pour out dollars to help them.

It is easy to be generous and heroic when the need is urgent.

But we often are slow to understand the poverty and woe of those who are victims of the slow grinding of economic forces—the poor who "are with ye always."

We should, therefore, doubly honor those quiet humanitarians who go about doing good merely because they want to help the needy, and who do so without publicity and self-praise.

There are many people like this among us—in fact, you might be one of them yourself!

Caltech professor says smudging caused the freeze! And we always thought it was the other way 'round.

NEW YORK.—Not in history of the New York theater have the players and critics been at such odds. The cry goes up the reviewers are killing the golden goose, that their pontifical laments are strumming a swan song for the legitimate. A season or so more and no shows to review!

It is the seasonal wail, only louder, that the Death Watch uses the offerings only as pegs upon which to hang their showy sophistries and exploit mutual brilliance. Several stars have made curtain speeches, after being stung by bad notices, protesting.

Yet the records shows that the plays that have endured are the slim few the reviewers thought were worthy, "Tarovitch," for example, and "On Your Toes." And the offerings they panned were soon carted to Mr. Cain's haven of lost theatrical hopes—the warehouse.

It is inconceivable that critics want the theater to die. For most of them reviewing has been their life work and they are untrained for other journalistic jobs. Rather in taking such a precarious course does it prove the honesty of their viewpoints. After all their debt is to the reader.

Dancing men are usually lanky, long legged and thin as the proverbial match. Such as the agile and floaty Vernon Castle, Clifton Webb and Ray Bolger. But New York has two experts in the nonprofessional class who are a complete reversal of type. They are Harry Evans and Ernest Truex. Each is rather short of stature, inclined to tubbiness and short limbed. But on the dance floor, especially in essaying the rhumba, they are models of rhythm, grace and precision.

* * *

They are now blaming agraphobia — that neurotic dread of open spaces—for a problem that faces every large hotel dining room. With one or two exceptions these spacious places cannot coax them in even with elaborate floor shows and sumptuous surroundings. Instead they flock to the bars, cafes intime and night clubs with postage stamp dance floors where the air is suffocatingly fetid and swing trumpeting cracks the ear drums.

* * *

The day of the barny, high ceiled and heavily chandeliered dining room—such as old Delmonico's and Sherry's on Fifth avenue—are solely for the historian. They have buckled into a sardine intimacy. The block directly above that amazing gastronomic galaxy on West Fifty-Second off Fifth avenue is now flowering in the same fashion. It is becoming almost solidly lined with cutely canopied bistros, snack bars and diminutive dining salons. Not many will seat comfortably more than 50. The entertainment is also flicked with familiarity. The meandering magician who plucks live canary birds from ladies' hand bags or gentlemen's pockets, strolling accordionists and the like. All very Frenchy bearing such tags as Chez this or Salle that. New York, attuned to the leit motif of the packed subway, wants constantly to be in a jam.

* * *

At times I think a few New York shop salesmen should be farmed out to Charles the grocer, near Grand Central, for a post-graduate selling course. Here are mostly venerables — whose age might be a handicap in the modern whirl—who offer an old fashioned courtesy that may be only described as charming. They are restrained in sales talk, just a trifle deaf, but so eager to show wares. And no matter how busy the place is, they accompany one to the door to bestow a cheerful au revoir.

Years ago Maurice Barrymore was approached in the Lambs by a fellow member, an agent for an obscure and not too heady champaigne. "Barry," said the wine man, "you are a noted figure and travel about the country extensively. It would help me if when you are in Cleveland, Cincinnati or Chicago you would ask for my champagne."

"I'll be glad to ask for it," replied Barrymore, "but—what if they have it?"

MOPEY DICK AND THE DUKE

"No snow shoveling job for us, eh Duke? They have to work to keep warm."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The navy's big ship-building program is in serious danger of being hit by a crippling sit-down strike.

In this instance, however, it is not the workers who are threatening to strike, but the employers. Manufacturers supplying navy shipyards with steel for new warships have notified the government that they will stop further shipments unless the Walsh-Healey act is suspended.

This law applies the 40-hour week to all work done under government contract. The steel magnates claim that their production schedules are geared to a 48-hour work week, that they can't produce steel under the Walsh-Healey act. They demand that the provision in the statute empowering the secretary of labor to suspend its operation in cases of emergency be put into effect.

Otherwise, they warn, they will stop filling government orders for ship-building steel.

Navy yards have only a month's supply of steel on hand. If the manufacturers should go through with their threat it would mean that the government's whole naval construction program would be forced to a standstill early next month.

At a conference between Secretary Perkins and Assistant Navy Secretary Edison it was decided to appeal to the steel union to agree to a three months suspension of the law.

Whether the union will accept such a plan is highly doubtful. The organization is now under the banner of John L. Lewis, and that embattled labor leader is in no mood to make concessions to the steel moguls. They have been waging a furious fight against his unionizing activities in their plants, and Lewis has openly declared that once the auto strike is settled he plans to "move in" on the steel operators.

FLOOD EXPERT

Colonel Ernest Graves of the army engineers probably knows more about floods than any other man in the country. For a quarter of a century floods have been his major job. He can reel off the dates and details of every time Old Man River has misbehaved in the past 100 years.

For years he has sailed up and down the Mississippi, knows the location of every dike, its strength, and the force of water now attacking it.

Reports from all over the Mississippi Valley flood his office He handles them swiftly, but without excitement. Perhaps because he is deaf and like Thomas Edison is undisturbed by outside noises, his face is as calm and unconcerned as the reflecting pool of the Lincoln Memorial just beneath his window.

Graves is distinctly skeptical about the value of reforestation in flood control.

"You take a dry sponge," he says, "and let water drop into it. It absorbs the water, and doesn't let any run off—for a while. But pretty soon the sponge gets full, and then the water runs off just as fast as you can pour it on.

"Same way with trees and grass. They hold a little water, but nobody knows how much. Maybe an inch or two. But what difference does that make when you've got an 80-foot flood?"

* * *

ARKANSAS DIKES

He puts his hand behind his ear and listens to the next question.

"The Lower Mississippi? Can't tell about that for another two weeks, when the crest comes in the Arkansas. I said yesterday I thought the levees would hold, but I just been studying that, and it looks to me like they're going to get wet down there."

Graves pulls at his pipe and philosophizes about people and floods.

"You know what they do down at Galveston, don't you? When the tornadoes come and tear up the town, people go out by the trainload, swearing they'll never come back. But they do. Same way with the flood country. You can't keep a man from gambling with the future."

CONGRESSIONAL INTELLIGENCE

Maury Maverick, Texas congressman, gave a lecture at Swarthmore college the other day, followed by a period in which the students bombarded him with questions—many of them most intelligent.

Maverick had a court reporter on the platform, taking notes of questions and answers. The resulting document he intends to insert in the Congressional Record under the caption: "College Students More Intelligent than Congressmen."

Exit another Townsend big shot. Edward J. Margett, California state area manager and one of the earliest and most potent leaders in the old-age pension movement, has been quietly thrust out into the cold by Dr. Francis Townsend.

What Other Editors Say

NEW OBJECT LESSON

(Anaheim Bulletin)

At regular intervals Orange county gets an object lesson in floods without having to experience the hardships that go with such disasters.

While it waits and tries to decide to do something with its own problem it sees hundreds of lives lost in the Ohio valley; it watches while hundreds of millions of dollars in property are destroyed.

Recent years have not brought Southern California enough rainfall to cause damage in this area.

But at this very moment there is enough snow in the mountains on the headwaters of the Santa Ana river and its tributaries to touch off a real flood. It would require exactly the right sort of weather to bring that stored water rolling down. A few hours of heavy, warm rain accompanied by warm winds to cut the snowbanks down quickly would do the job.

Enough damage could occur within a few hours to build a couple of dams at Prado.

It is noticeable that official Washington again is talking of plans to make the Ohio river safe. It has been a battle that has challenged the engineering skill of the nation for decades. In that region everything thought possible has been done to avoid disaster.

Here we have done little to protect ourselves.

Progress even catches up with transmitting of night-time train orders which the engineer ordinarily scoops up "on the fly." Flashlights are now attached to the old-time conventional "message loops." This light illuminates the loop and makes it easy for the trainman to pick up the message from above.

One Man's Opinion

By R. F. PAINE

Justice: That which would eliminate all of our social miseries, evil advantages and injustices, economic, legal, industrial and social.

The way in which legal procedure was held up, black-jacked, stamped upon, raised up and again felled and mutilated justice in our country is a shame to civilization, as Chief Justice Taft told the American Bar association, years ago. And the outrage and shame still prevail.

Twenty-one years ago, a citizen was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Today, it is not yet decided whether this man should have been hanged or is the victim of a miscarriage of justice. While, for a generation, the man has been made to serve as a captured criminal and the taxpayers and the individual contributors have paid enormous sums to get at the merits of his case, his case has been dragged through the smaller and highest courts of the state, to an through the highest court of the land and back again to the state judiciary, which latter is now to pass upon the findings of a referee who couldn't possibly find what a dozen of trials and investigations didn't. Next step a decision by a state court, to be carried to the U. S. supreme court and, like enough, a second time kicked back into California's impotency to administer justice.

There is more in the Mooney case than the ultimate fate of Tom Mooney, if, indeed, legal procedure permits him ever to have any ultimate. His case shrieks to the world:

"God help the man, innocent or guilty, whose liberty or whose life is at the mercy of American legal procedure!"

We have legal procedure through will of the people as expressed by their ballots. We have courts aiding in such abortions of justice for the individual as the handling, or manhandling of the Mooney case.

We have lega procedure through which, in civil cases, the man of small means has no show, unless he can secure lawyers to work on commissions. The rape of justice by legal procedure and in accord with law!

Why shouldn't we have Communists, all shades of extreme radicals and industrial wars? The masses of any nation denied the effects of their political action and deprived of the impartial administration of justice will stand the condition just so long, not forever.

This comes right off the record, and is historically and geneologically accurate, or else Tim Rowray does not know what he is talking about. But while he is talking let's hear what he has to say: Tim is from Cedar Rapids, Iowa. One of the daily newspapers credited him with a residence at Rochester, Minn., probably on account of the Mayo's. Then another daily newspaper decides that his physiognomy would be an adornment to any daily publication. So it appears alongside of some department captioned as a wisecrack column. To cap the sheaf and complete the ignomy a friend who can't talk any better than I can hear turned in Tim's name as Lowery, and I scheduled him under such a cognomen in the "special underwear department." Now that the smoke has cleared away let's get down to Rowray, and leave it that way. Anyway, Tim's name sounds like a college yell.

Here's a good "Go thou and do likewise" sermon. Charley Seeber, trapped in with the rodent control crew of 43 men, takes off his hat and passes it to his colleagues. When it comes back it has $14.75 in it, which will be forwarded to the Red Cross for distribution among the flood sufferers. Inasmuch as the wages of the men connected with this work is not extravagantly high, it is not only a generous act, but a good example.

Lee Boyles brings me news of a startling discovery. He says that he picked two navel oranges off a tree in his backyard and both were frozen. This is an unpardonable admission, and I have called a meeting of the board of strategy to pass on Lee's case. In Russia they would shoot him. In Orange county a psychiartrist may be called upon to make a decision. But think of it—two oranges out of a whole tree full—frozen. Oh, well, come to think about it that's all right. Frozen orange juice is a delicacy, boosted by physicians, and sold by roadstands. After all life is worth living, even if two oranges were frozen.

I am finally convinced that nature in the raw is seldom mild. An experience comes to me about a mild mannered man, whose sleeping custom conforms closely to the original, having during the early morning hours decided to bring in the morning paper which has been delivered on the front porch. It was one of those cold breezy days, and he reckoned without the zephyrs. Before my friend could get to the paper and back to the door the wind had closed the only means of ingress. Where was he but waiting at the door. After repeated alarms the best half of the family finally came to the rescue. Of course I'm not going to mention any names, but I am of the opinion as compensation for silence that my church dues should be paid for the rest of the calendar year.

If some of the press reports about conditions in the flooded districts are correct, the topography has changed since George Gould was wadding around the creeks and streams in the Mound City sector, and it is Mound City instead of "Mount" City. George says one reporter empties the Cache river into the Mississippi and his recollection is that the Ohio river is the recipient of the Cache flow. But a flood by any other name is just as destructive, and the sooner it is over the better George will like it, whether the topography has changed or remains the same. But it's mighty difficult to remove from an adult's mind his boyhood experiences, especially when they are supported by geographical facts.

I was contemplating the organization of another club. He may join.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD Olaf Haraldsson left his home in Norway, early in the eleventh century, and joined a band of pirates who harried the coast of Europe. Soon young Olaf, through his cunning and daring, gained command of a ship and he began burning and plundering the coast towns of Finland, and murdering those who opposed him.

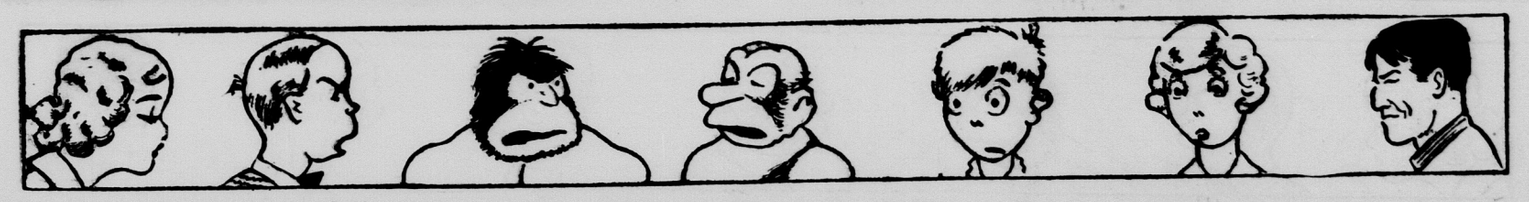

He helped King Ethelred of England fight the Danes, and for reward received the privilege of ransacking villages, extorting money from the people, burning and killing where it was refused.

One night, in a dream, a giant told him to return home and take the crown which his father had held before him. In one decisive battle he gained complete rule of Norway.

Olaf then began to enforce Christianity upon his subjects. Those who thwarted him he mutilated, cutting off their hands or their feet, or gouging out their eyes. Slowly, however, opposition grew until, in 1029, King Olaf had to flee to Russia. He returned the next year with a ragged army of outlaws and vagabonds, and faced the Norsemen at Sticklestad. He fought furiously, until an ax struck him in the knee. As Olaf knelt to pray, another Norseman hurled his spear into his body, and his men fled.

Soon stories arose about Olaf's miracles, and he became patron saint of Norway. A picture of his final battle appears on a stamp issued by Norway in 1930.

WILL IT WORK?

SURE IT'LL WORK! THE SNOWBALLS WILL TURN ON THE AXLE, AN' WE'LL GO LIKE HECK! NOW SHOVE OFF!

WE'RE PICKIN' UP MORE SNOW, OSSIE.... AN' WE'RE GETTING HIGHER OFF THE GROUND!!

I DIDN'T PLAN ON THAT HAPPENING!

WE'RE GOING FASTER AND FASTER, OSSIE! LOOK OUT! THERE ARE THREE POLICEMEN WALKING AHEAD OF US!

COVER YOUR FACE! DON'T LET 'EM SEE WHO WE ARE!!

CAN'T YOU STOP IT, OSSIE?

YOU CAN'T PUT BRAKES ON A SNOWBALL!

GEE, IF THOSE COPS SAW US, WE'RE IN FOR IT!

WE WENT BY THEM TOO FAST! GEE, WE'RE SLOWING DOWN!

THE SNOW SURE DID PACK TIGHT ON THESE SNOWBALLS, AFTER WE GOT STARTED!

LET'S GET OUTA HERE BEFORE THOSE COPS COME AFTER US!!

WE BETTER BUST THIS THING UP.... THAT'LL DESTROY THE EVIDENCE! WE SURE PICKED UP MOMENTUM!!

YEAH, AND THAT AIN'T ALL YOU PICKED UP!!
